CRIME SURVEY HITS LAXITY OF ENFORCEMENT

Wickersham Group Says Law Machinery Is Inadequate.

INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL SALE BEING STUDIED

11 SUBCOMMITTEES PONDER PROBLEMS

(Associated Press.)

A preliminary survey has convinced the Law Enforcement Commission that "unquestionably" the criminal law enforcement machinery is entirely inadequate.

Chairman Wickersham, in the only statement from the commission on its meeting this week, said yesterday that prohibition, automobile theft, white slave traffic, immigration violations and other offenses against criminal laws of the Federal Government have overtaxed the capacity and effectiveness of the national machinery of enforcement.

Alcohol Sale Studied.

Special attention, the chairman said, is being given to the administration of the law with respect to the manufacture and sale of industrial alcohol. He added that "a considerable portion of the activities of the committee has been given to development of proposals for action on most urgent questions" in connection with prohibition.

The question of the better organization of responsibility and coordination of Federal agencies has been given careful consideration, together with measures for relief of congestion in the courts, he continued.

Mr. Wickersham pointed out that the work of the commission had been divided into eleven phases, and that under the direction of each subcommittee, "exhaustive examination of the situation has been initiated through wide correspondence, conferences by members of the commission with scores of leading men and officials and by the appointment of qualified research experts of whom about fourteen have been engaged o date."

Other Activities Told.

He also cited cooperation with crime commissions and similar agencies through the country, and several advisory committees have been set up for the pursuit of various phases of the problem.

Expenses of the commission during the seven months it has been in existence now total $70,000, and the statement cited that members of the commission and eleven of the fourteen experts in charge of the investigations are serving without compension.

Mississippi Valley Faces Cold Spell

Freezing Weather Brings Relief From High-Water Threat.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—The Mississippi Valley today welcomed a cold wave which promised relief from threatened serious high water stages.

Slow rains changed to sleet and snow in many sections and freezing temperatures were expected tonight in the lowlands of Tennessee, Kentucky, southeast Missouri, Arkansas and Mississippi. There was no sign of any more rain in the Memphis area and the thermometer was expected to go below 20 degrees before morning.

The high-water situation in the lower valley was not acute. Affected towns are accustomed to winter freshets, and residents of this section, who include river gauge readings in their childhood education, are not alarmed, although several small rivers are at flood stage, and the Mississippi still is rising.

Steamer Answers Ship Distress Call

Liner, Steering Gear Lost 600 Miles From Land, Asks for Aid.

London, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Lloyds reported tonight the receipt of a wireless from the British liner Transylvania stating that she was going to the assistance of the British steamer Eskbridge, which was in distress in latitude 57 north and longitude 20.12 west.

The Eskbridge, of 2,107 tons, reported that her steering gear had been carried away. She sailed for New York on January 1 from Grangemouth, Scotland.

Business Confidently Marks Turn of Year

Volume of Production and Distribution Near Normal for Season, Reports Received by Survey Conference Indicate.

(Associated Press.)

Reports received by the national business survey conference, called by President Hoover last month, indicate "that business has rounded the turn of the year with the volume of production and distribution approaching normal for this season and confidence in the immediate future unimpaired."

This was the conclusion announced last night by the chairman, Julius H. Barnes, in the course of a study of returns available from inquiries that have been made all over the country.

An upward turn in savings bank deposits, increase of life insurance business and expansion in the total of stockholders in standard corporations were among the points cited in the summary. It was said that recessions had been experienced in textiles and in some food producing lines, while the rate of increase in use of gas and electricity had slowed down.

Taken as a whole, the summary added, "the reports indicate that readjustments are being made in an orderly way with definite signs that credit is flowing back to productive enterprise."

Chairman Barnes said "the energy of America's trade and commercial organizations is being earnestly devoted to the task of maintaining stability in our various fields of business," and that in view of the data available, "confidential and mutual support grows naturally among the directors of indutry."

He predicted "the ever expanding requirements of 120,000,000 people leads prudent business judgment to make now the necessary extensions, replacements and betterments of plant and equipment in preparation for the future."

STIR MADE BY HOUSE REBUFF OF HOOVER

BOTH CAMPS SENSITIVE

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The widely published fact yesterday that the House leaders had refused the President's request for a joint congressional committee to carry out his prohibition enforcement reform almost scared both the House and the White House to death.

At the Capitol end of the Avenue, leaders made haste to point out that there was simply a difference of opinion over preliminary procedure in which they were, of course, more skilled than the President, and the White House put on a pale grin and explained that, of course, the House leaders were right, that the White House didn't care much about the joint committee after all.

So sensitive did both the White House and the House seem to be to the suggestion of a rift, in fact, that some commentators who had not emphasized this phase of Thursday's developments began to wonder if they had overlooked something.

There were gracious statements by Speaker Longworth and Majority Leader Tilson, both saying, in effect, that when they woke up yesterday morning they were startled to see by the papers, &c. It is quite true, they said, that the leaders had deemed the better procedure in handling the President's reform legislation to be through the House standing committees instead of a joint committee, but this was but a difference of opinion over procedure only. In so far as the reform legislation is concerned, the House is prepared to pass whatever the President recommends.

"In fine, the majority party of the House," said Speaker Longworth, "stands firm in its support of the President upon all measures which he deems necessary for the proper anforcement of all laws of the United States."

Mr. Tilson said about the same thing, and Representative Cramton, of Michigan, arose on the floor and said that if anybody got the impression from the difference of opinion over procedure that the House was not dry and not prepared to go along with the President, he was barking up the wrong tree.

Messrs. Longworth, Tilson and Cramton are absolutely right. There is little question but that the House will pass most any proposal that the President makes.

In view of this, there was considerable speculation in political circles

ATTACK ON OFFICER LAID TO COLLEAGUE

LATER DENIES AFFAIR

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Roundups of underworld characters suspected of connection with the shooting of Inspector Henry J. Garvin, head of the police crime and bomb squad, were overshadowed tonight by alleged revelations by a detective of the black hand squad which directed the investigation against the police themselves.

The Detroit News today published an account of charges said to have been made by this officer that the attack made on Inspector Garvin was engineered by another high police official and was the outgrowth of years of ill-feeling and jealousy. The same story included a complete denial by the detective of these charges.

The detective, according to the story, is Adolph Van Coppenolle, who is claimed to have revealed how he and an inspector of police sat in an automobile six weeks ago and plotted to take Inspector Garvin's life. On this occasion the detective is claimed to have quoted the inspector as saying about Inspector Garvin:

"I'm tired of hearing about him and I'm going to have him bumped off and you're going to help me."

Then, according to the story attributed to the detective, the two drove to an East Side saloon, where the latter went in to arrange matters with gangsters. Instead of doing this, the detective is quoted as saying, he "double-crossed" the inspector and laid the whole matter before Inspector Garvin. The story was then told to William R. Rutledge, commissioner of police, and the information was turned over to James Sprott, superintendent of police, with orders for an investigation. The matter was subsequently dropped when Superintendent Sprott reported the charges groundless, the story said.

Fears of revenge on the part of the police officer are said to have prevented the detective from making an affidavit. He even refused to have his story taken down down by a stenographer. The name of the inspector is being withheld as no formal charges have been made.

After the matter was dropped the attack on Garvin occurred January 2. In this attack not only the inspector but also Lois Bartlett, an 11-year-old schoolgirl, were wounded by the broadside of revolver bullets and shotgun slugs fired by the officers' assailants, who came alongside him in

BRITAIN OFFERS TO CUT CRUISER NUMBER TO 50

First Public Move Made Toward Reduction of Naval Armaments.

LORD OF ADMIRALTY REVEALS PROPOSAL

Kellogg Peace Pact Has Rendered More Ships Unnecessary, View.

PLAN WOULD SERVE UNTIL 1936 PARLEY

Nation Also Wants Capital Vessel That Is Less Expensive to Build.

Sheffield, England, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Great Britain tonight, through its first lord of the admiralty, made its first public move in precise figures toward reduction in naval armaments.

A. V. Alexander, speaking in his own constituency, announced that the empire at the coming five-power conference intended to propose reducing her requirement in cruiser strength from 70 to 50. He said the Kellogg-Briand peace pact had so altered the situation that the admiralty felt warranted in setting its irreducible minimum of cruisers at 50 instead of the 70 considered necessary at the time of the Washington conference.

This was the first time the British people at large had been authoritatively informed of the exact position of their government on the cruiser question. Allegedly inspired statements following the lines of the speech by Mr. Alexander have been circulated, however, in England during the past few months. These reports were that the total of 50 would be made up of fifteen 8-inch gun vessels of 10,000 tons and 35 vessels of a smaller type to carry 6-inch guns.

Another Parley Anticipated.

Mr. Alexander emphasized that these figures would be operative pending a further naval conference in 1936, which he hoped would confirm and extend the present agreement.

The first lord of the admiralty made another important announcement in reference to capital ships. He declared that his government would like to see, "if replacements are to take place as they must, a capital ship which would be less expensive both to build and to maintain than the ship which is involved in the maximum tonnage rule laid down in the Washington treaty."

Mr. Alexander also expressed the British hope for reduction in destroyers and ultimate complete abolition of the submarine.

The first, he said, was predicated on partial accomplishment of the second and the latter upon winning the consent of other powers.

Text of Statement.

Mr. Alexander said:

"I want to acknowledge that up to the present the press in this country has maintained an attitude of great friendliness and helpfulness with regard to the forthcoming five-power conference. But with the emergence of some of the main problems to be considered, and particularly the problem of cruiser strength, I have observed a tendency for the press to ask, 'What is the attitude of the admiralty with regard to fixing the minimum requirements of cruiser strength for the British empire at 50 ships instead of the 70 ships asked for in 1927?'

"Let me say at the outset that in decisions of policy on matters of this kind it is the government which is responsible and which must answer to the nation. But in view of the na-

ATTORNEYS PROFESS NO FEAR OF HIS TALE

Neighbor Who Found Bomb on Doorstep First on Stand as Hearing Opens.

The preliminary hearing of Lawrence Leroy Brady, Washington automobile mechanic, on charges of murder, came to an abrupt end yesterday when his brother, Herman Brady, Mitchellville farmer, who is being held in connection with the case, refused to testify on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

Defense counsel conferred last night and decided not to file application for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Herman Brady until Monday in the hope that some agreement can be reached with the State's attorney regarding what disposition is to be made of him. Counsel stated that they have no objection to the brother of Leroy Brady testifying provided that he is granted immunity from further prosecution.

"We are not in the slightest disturbed about any injurious effect Herman's statement may have on the case of his brother, Leroy; but as Herman's counsel, we felt obliged to insist that he be given the full benefit his truthful statement as a State witness enables him to receive," his lawyers said.

Herman Brady was the second witness to be placed on the stand at the hearing, which was held in the circuit court room at Upper Marlboro, Md., with Justice of the Peace Harry W. Gore presiding.

He is the widower of Mrs. Naomi Hall Brady, 18, who was killed when a bomb, disguised as a Christmas box, exploded at her Seat Pleasant home New Year's Day.

Heeds Counsel's Advice.

Herman was brought from the county jail to the courthouse and given a seat at the prosecution table. Leroy was brought in later. There were more than 500 persons in the courtroom.

"I refuse to testify if Mr. Magruder says not to," Herman said when he was arraigned, and the crowd registered visible disappointment.

M. Hampton Magruder, prominent Maryland attorney, is counsel for the two Brady brothers.

Woman Neighbor on Stand.

Mrs. Annie Buckley, of Seat Pleasant, who found the bomb which killed three members of the Hall family and wounded five others, was the first witness. As she left the stand, State's Attorney J. Frank Parran called Herman Brady.

"Just a minute. Do you propose to call Mr. Herman Brady?" Mr. Magruder asked.

"Yes," Parran replied.

"Have you promised Mr. Herman Brady immunity if he testified?" Mr. Magruder asked.

"I told Herman Brady after he had made the statement he has made that our investigation showed he had no part in the placing of the bomb," Parran said, "and that we had no evidence to try him o—"

Insists on Promise.

"Do you reaffirm now the promise to Herman Brady that you will give him immunity from prosecution if he testifies now, even if, after further testimony, he should be indicted by the grand jury?"

LINDSAY IDENTIFIED IN ANOTHER HOLDUP

PROVES NOT TO BE HAND

Leesburg, Va., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—William F. Lindsay, 26, of Lovettsville, Va., arrested Monday evening as the alleged robber of a bank at Hamilton, Va., has been identified as the man who robbed the Abbottstown State Bank, in Adams County, Pa., on November 6.

Identification was made by Wilson Bream, cashier of the Abbottstown bank, and Miss Helen Dehoff, a clerk in a Hallam bank, where Lindsay is said to have been foiled in a second attempted hold-up in York County. Both Bream and Miss Dehoff were positive in their identification, police said.

Lindsay, who is accused of robbing the Hamilton bank of $4,264 last Friday, was captured at New Midway, 10 miles from Frederick, Md.

The robber who held up the Abbottstown bank obtained $1,115 and shut Bream in the bank vault.

The Hamilton robbery occurred January 3 and was followed by a chase in which Lindsay's automobile and part of the money taken from the bank were captured that night near Frederick. Lindsay fled into the mountains, but was caught at New Midway and returned to Leesburg two days later, when he emerged from his hiding and tried to telephone to his wife.

William Francis Lindsay is not Wilbur W. Hand, alleged bank robber who escaped from the Fifth Precinct Jail in Washington several months ago, local police declared last night after investigating the report that Lindsay might be Hand.

Inspector Headley and Capt. Sanford saw Lindsay at the Leesburg Jail yesterday and satisfied themselves that reports that he might be Hand were erroneous.

Shipment Puts France In Front on Gold Held

Cherbourg, France, Jan. 10.—With the arrival aboard the Cunard liner Berengaria of 216,000,000 francs in gold (approximately $43,200,000), France today took the lead of all the nations in the world in the gold ratio per capita.

Every Frenchman, man, woman and child, now theoretically may boast of possessing $40 in the vaults of the Bank of France. French records place the United States second, with $37.50 for each of its citizens.

REBELS UPSET PLAN FOR G.O.P. HARMONY

McMaster Registers Stout Protest at Being Left From Committee.

BUT PROMISE CLEARS AIR

(Associated Press).

Senator McMaster, of South Dakota, one of the rebel Western independents, upset the harmony program for the Republican organization in the Senate yesterday with a stout protest against banning him for the place on the interstate commerce committee in favor of Senator Hastings, of Delaware, his junior in service.

The independents have won recognition in the appointment of Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, to the powerful finance committee, and in other major committee assignments. With this in mind, they decided after a conference late in the day that if McMaster should be promised the next vacancy on the interstate commerce committee, they should not oppose the newly revised organization set-up.

That promise has been made to McMaster and last night the path seemed clear for final approval of the party's committee line-up today.

The faction-split Republicans did unite long enough at the party's conference yesterday to elect unanimously Senator McNary, of Oregon, assistant to Senator Watson, of Indiana, as floor leader. It was Senator

LOBBY COMMITTEE SCORED BY WOMAN

LAUGHTER ROCKS ROOM

An outspoken young woman yesterday charged the Senate lobby committee with playing politics in its investigation of Cuban sugar interests and precipitated a battle of words which raged for more than two hours.

Wearing a chic blue ensemble, Mrs. Gladys Moon Jones, Washington publicity representative of the United States Sugar Association, took advantage of every opportunity to express her opinion of the committee. Laughter frequently swept the crowded committee room.

In a statement placed into the Record, she asserted that "apparently the two chief purposes of the so-called lobby committee have been to create political difficulties for President Hoover and to whitewash the 25 years' activities in Washington of the domestic sugar interests."

She also charged that the committee had violated the fourth amendment of the Constitution by obtaining correspondence from her office files.

Startled at first by the woman's frankness, members of the committee soon began to chuckle and then joined in the general laughter that greeted her thrusts at them. Senator Walsh (Democrat, Montana), who seldom has smiled during the hearings, burst into laughter a number of times.

It was the first time a woman had been questioned at length and Mrs. Jones proved one of the most outspoken witnesses examined during the lobby investigation.

As the session was nearing an end she told the committee that it had treated her nicely.

"Your treatment of other people on the Cuban side," she added, "has made me act this way."

The committee adjourned yesterday until Tuesday. Then it will question Dr. Edward R. Pickrell, of the General Dyestuffs Corporation of New York, in regard to reports that he had used the office of Senator King (Democrat), Utah, as headquarters during consideration of the tariff bill.

Asked yesterday if he would appear before the committee, Senator King said, "I have no interest in the ### President and Mrs. Hoover Write Autographs for Tearing of Dress.

It was through the good offices of Yukon, Alaskan husky, residence the White House, that Miss Dolly Fitzgerald, 12, is today the proud possessor of the autographs of the President and Mrs. Hoover.

Miss Dolly, who resides with her mother here, had a prized autograph album in which she had often visualized the signatures of the President and the First Lady. She had a camera, too, and as autographs were out of the question, she thought she would just go down to the White House and take some "snaps" of the rooms in which the President lives.

Accompanied by her mother, and with the camera in full view so as to proclaim the nature of her errand, Miss Dolly appeared at the portals of

Baltimore Woman's Death Blamed on Parrot Disease

Six Fatal Cases Reported From Germany and One in Toledo, Ohio.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Mrs. Louise Schaeffer died today from what hospital physicians said they believed to be psittacosis, or "parrot fever." Report of the woman's death, incorporating the belief that it was caused by the comparatively rare disease, was made to officials of the State Health Department.

Mrs. Schaeffer was taken to the hospital on Monday with symptoms of pneumonia, though her condition failed to respond to treatment for that malady. Physicians say that psittacosis resembles both pneumonia and typhoid fever in its actions.

It was learned by health officials that Mrs. Schaeffer had been in contact with the parrot several days before she became ill and an autopsy give his promise of immunity, Mr. Magruder said:

"Unless you will give us your promise of immunity from future prosecution, we will be obliged to tell Herman Brady that he has a right to claim his privilege and refuse to testify."

Herman was sworn as a witness.

"Where do you live?" Mr. Parran asked.

Mr. Magruder broke in at this point.

"Now, Mr. Brady," he said, "I am advising you as your attorney, in conjunction with Mr. Sasscer and Mr. Hall——"

"Attorney for what?" Parran interrupted.

"Attorney for Mr. Brady," Mr. Magruder answered.

"In what case?"

"He is in your custody."

"He is in our custody as a State witness."

"But he is still in your custody."

Supreme Court Decision Read.

"Mr. Brady, I am advising you as your counsel in conjunction with Mr. Sasscer and Mr. Hall that you can claim your privilege not to testify if your testimony in your judgment would incriminate you."

State Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer then read a decision of the United States Supreme Court which held that a witness in similar circumstances did not have to testify even if offered immunity.

After considerable discussion, Mr. Parran again turned to Herman and asked where he lived. Mr. Magruder interrupted and started to talk to Brady again. Whereupon former State's Attorney J. Wilson Ryon walked to the bench and said:

"If the court pleases, I have been specially consulted today in reference to appearing in this case. At first I did not intend to take any part in the preliminary hearing, but as this discussion has started, I believe it is my duty, not only because I have been consulted about this case but as a resident of our county.

Should Have Advised Earlier.

"I have listened with some attention to the efforts of counsel for either one man or the other to delay the orderly preliminary hearing before you, and my understanding of the duties of counsel is that, if they represent young Brady there (pointing to Herman), they had plenty of time to advise him while he was in jail, and further they had plenty of opportunity to discuss this matter with him and not wait until they came here when he is brought here as a witness by advising him of something, of any right he may have, that he has not shown any desire as yet to say that he wants to exercise."

More wrangling followed. Mr. Parran turned to Herman, and again asked the question of where he lived. In a low voice, the witness said:

"I refuse to testify if Mr. Magruder says not to."

"Do you think that by testifying it might incriminate you?" Parran asked.

"It may," Brady responded, almost in a whisper.

"Show him his statement now," Mr. Ryon said.

Admits Signing Statement.

He meant the statement which detectives said Herman signed Sunday night implicating his brother Leroy.

Mr. Parran offered the statement, and asked Herman if he had signed it. Herman admitted he had. Mr. Parran then asked if he had read it before signing it. Mr. Magruder, Mr. Sasscer, and Mr. Frank M. Hall, defense counsel, rose to their feet and started to object.

"He has refused to testify," Mr. Sasscer shouted.

Mr. Ryon declared that the defense counsel had no right to interfere with the testimony of a State witness, and that he and Mr. Parran could order the preliminary hearing held in the jail if it became necessary to avoid interference.

"I defy you to keep us out," Mr. Magruder answered.

Attorneys for both sides then gathered in a group and consulted for nearly a half-hour. At the completion of the consultation, State's Attorney Parran asked the court to postpone the hearing until Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and to remand Herman to jail as a State witness.

Mr. Parran stated that no charge will be placed against Herman at this time. Defense counsel held a conference last night to determine their future action.

Finding of Bomb Described.

Miss Annie Buckley, the first witness at yesterday's hearing, said she lived on Carmody road, across the street and at an angle from the Hall home.

She said she found the Christmas box containing the bomb on her doorstep Sunday morning, December 29, between 7:30 and 8 o'clock.

It was wrapped in brown paper, she said, and had printed on it, "Miss Naomi Hall." It bore no address, she said, in response to a question.

At that time, Mrs. Buckley said, she did not know the Hall family. She found out that the Halls lived nearby, she said, from her small son, who knew the Hall children.

She then told how, on New Year's Day she called in Leslie Hall, 16, and gave him the package. Leslie ran home with the box and gave it to his mother.

Mrs. Nora Hall, the mother, with Naomi and the other children gathered about her, opened the box in the kitchen and the devastating explosion followed.

State's Attorney Parran asked Mrs. Buckley yesterday about the nature of the soil in front of her house and she replied that it was sort of "reddish."

SMOOT CELEBRATES HIS 68TH BIRTHDAY

Senator Astounds Capitol With Oratorical Speech on Sugar Tariff.

REVIEWS LONG CAREER

Senator Reed Smoot (Republican), of Utah, celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday yesterday, and then went out on the floor and made the most vigorous speech of his long career.

Mr. Smoot, the dean of Senate Republicans since the death of Senator Warren, never has been one to go in for spectacular oratory. In fact, his speeches usually have been delivered in such a low voice that it was almost impossible to make out what he was saying.

But yesterday the Senate saw a new Smoot. With a birthday carnation in his lapel, he stood out where all could see him, spoke out so that all could hear him and declaimed in a fashion that astonished old-timers at the Capitol.

He spoke in favor of a higher tariff duty on sugar, a question perhaps that means more to him than anything else before the Senate.

Earlier in the day, at a birthday party given in his honor by his two sons, Harold and Ernest, the veteran Utah senator delivered this account of his career:

"I am drawing dividends on the life I have lived since boyhood. I've never drank liquor in my life. I've never smoked. I've always eaten good, plain food, and I've always loved work. I never was lazy, and I never saw a time when I didn't have plenty to do."

"I've wronged nobody. I was fortunate in marrying as perfect a young woman as ever lived. My children have had a marvelous mother, a superb homemaker. Of all the blessings received by me, she was the greatest."

The birthday party was attended by Vice President Curtis, a number of senators and many leaders in the country's business and professional circles.

Man, Hit by Auto Truck, Seeks $50,000 Damages

Alleging that he suffered permanent injuries on November 25 last, when he was struck down by an automobile truck at Thirteenth street and Spring road northwest, James B. Fletcher, of 1400 Spring road northwest, yesterday filed suit in District Supreme Court seeking to recover $50,000 from Samuel Stein, of 3332 Georgia avenue northwest, said to be the owner of the motor vehicle.

Fletcher, in his declaration, which was filed through Attorney Claude A. Thompson, tells the court that the truck driver violated ten traffic regulations and that this alleged negligence and carelessness caused the accident. He asserts that he suffered concussion of the brain and other injuries and expended large sums for hospital and medical treatment.

Mrs. A. E. Potter Estate Is Valued at $150,000

An estate valued at more than $150,000 was left by Mrs. Annie E. Potter, who died December 17, according to the petition for the probate of her will filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by the executors, the American Surety & Trust Co.

Under the terms of the will, Mrs. Potter left the bulk of her estate in trust for her daugher, Pearl P. Etz, provision being made that upon the death of the daughter the trust is to be terminated and the fund divided among the daughter's children. A special bequest of $1,000 was left to the Associated Charities to aid the babies of the poor people of the District of Columbia. The estate is made up of real estate assessed at $17,192 and securities and personal property estimated at $134,558.91.

Free Street Car Transfers Sought

Brightwood Citizens Ask Special Order to Apply at Intersection.

Free transfers between the street car lines of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. and the Capital Traction Co. at their intersection at Georgia avenue and Kennedy street northwest was asked in a petition filed with the Public Utilities Commission for the Brightwood Citizens Association by William McK. Clayton yesterday.

The association also asked that the commission order the Washington Railway & Electric Co. car to stop at Longfellow street on Georgia avenue whenever a passenger desires to alight from a car or board one at that intersection.

The association appealed to the commission, Clayton said in his petition, because of the failure of the efforts of the citizens of the section to get the two railway companies to agree to the proposals. The negotiations have been conducted with the company for the last five years, he said, but have availed nothing.

CHANGE ADVOCATED FOR RESERVE BOARD

Governor, Instead of Head of Treasury, Should Be Chairman, Claim.

REFERENDUM IS STARTED

(Associated Press.)

Removal of the Secretary of the Treasury from the chairmanship of the Federal Reserve Board in favor of the governor of the board was advocated yesterday in a committee report accompanying a referendum submitted to its membership by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The questions upon which 1,700 business organizations were asked to vote also included recommendations that the flow of bank credit into speculative channels be restricted, but without prescription by Congress of precise methods to be followed, and that a uniform rate of rediscount for all reserve banks is "unsuited to our regional system and to the diversity of business conditions."

Nineteen questions were presented in the referendum, which was compiled by 50 leaders in business, labor and agriculture after a year's study, which the chamber said was "probably the most extensive examination of the country's central banking system ever undertaken."

Policies to Be Determined.

The report said that the results, which are to be made public on February 24, would, in effect, "determine the policies of organized business toward the reserve system."

Relatively few of the recommendations favor changes in the Federal Reserve act itself, and in no instance was there insistence upon immediate legislation.

"Instead, there is emphasis," the report said, "upon the importance of a capable and politically independent management and upon the wisdom of permitting the system to develop improvements in practice."

Urging removal of the Treasury head from the dominant place on the board, the committee said the position of governor should be enhanced, and added, "The board can not possibly be expected to meet the anticipation of the framers of the reserve act while it continues to include the Secretary of the Treasury as its chairman, overshadowing the governor.

"Indeed, we are convinced of the inadvisability of including the Secretary of the Treasury as a member of the board.

"It is hardly going too far to say that since the establishment of the reserve system, the Treasury Department, to a considerable extent, has overshadowed the board and has tended, consciously or unconsciously, to reduce the board to the status of a departmental bureau."

Salary Increases Sought.

The committee proposed that the salaries of board members be increased from $12,000 to a minimum of $30,000 annually for the governor and $25,000 for other members, holding that the salaries must approach, at least, the salaries paid in the field of general banking, from which Federal reserve management must be drawn.

Recommendations also were made that the feasibility of divorcing the office of the Comptroller of the Currency from the Treasury Department and bringing it under the purview of the Federal Reserve Board be considered.

Entering into the widespread discussion of broker's loans, which the reserve board moved to curb last year when they were at their peak, the committee urged that in determining the system's credit policies, Federal Reserve authorities, with cooperation of the member banks, should endeavor to restrict the flow of bank credit into speculative channels when such flow is likely to produce an immediate or prospective strain on the reserve of member banks in their effort to provide credit accommodation to commerce and industry.

Prescription to Be Avoided.

This would be accomplished, however, without prescription by Congress of the methods to be followed.

"Widespread speculation in any of the markets—real estate, commodity or security—may make such demands upon the credit resources of the country as to impair their liquidity or dislocate the supply available for undertakings involving a normal business risk or unduly increase its cost," the committee said in support of its recommendation. "Speculation in a local or general market may arise from causes other than the immediate or prospective volume of money or credit.

"When widespread speculation is attributable in an important part, however, to an over-abundant supply of money or credit, it is clearly of concern to the system, since it possesses some power to influence the quantity and cost of that supply. On such occasions the system can not avoid seeking or urging such adjustments in the credit supply or in the directions of the use of credit as will assist in restoring the proper balance between the volume of credit used for speculative purposes and that used in accommodation to business and industry."

RADIO BOARD TO SIFT PROFANITY CHARGES

COMMISSION WILL ACT

(Associated Press.)

Whether Station KWKH at Shreveport, La., has broadcast profanity—as charged by Senator Dill, of Washington—is to be investigated by the Radio Commission.

Chairman Robinson, of the Federal Commission, vested with authority over the air by the act fathered by the Democratic senator from Washington, made a promise to that effect while testifying yesterday before the Senate interstate commerce committee on the Couzens communications bill.

This latest development in radio affairs shared interest with an announcement by Senator Brookhart, Republican independent from Iowa, that he was considering an amendment to the law which would bar public utilities from broadcasting. He has not submitted the proposed amendment, however.

Third Day of Controversy.

It was the third time in as many days that the controversy over KWKH, which is operated by W. K. Henderson, had been the subject of senatorial comment.

On each occasion Senator Dill was the complainant. He demanded in the Senate Thursday that the Attorney General take action and yesterday he called upon Mr. Robinson to tell why the commission had not assumed the initiative.

Mr. Brookhart's proposal was broached as the committee heard a discussion by Mr. Robinson of a recent decision, in which station WENR at Chicago was given the right to broadcast on a cleared channel with station WLS at Chicago sharing time equally.

Public Utilities Programs Hit.

"Some of us believe," the Iowan said, "that public utilities have no business on the air."

WENR is a new station operated by the Commonwealth Edison Co., an Insull subsidiary, and WLS, operated by the Prairie Farmer, is a pioneer broadcaster. Mr. Robinson had told the committee that prior to the decision WENR had two-sevenths of the time given to the two stations.

Mr. Robinson testified that the commission now has a sworn statement against KWKH, but that up to the last few days nothing but rumors about the language used by its owner and announcer had been available.

Henderson "on Carpet."

The radio chairman explained that Mr. Henderson had been "on the carpet" within the last year, but that he had proved an audience of 160,000 wanted to continue to listen to him. He also said two senators and several representatives had testified that no profanity had been used.

Mr. Dill observed that perhaps the language used then was not as distasteful as it was now, adding that it had been "getting worse lately."

Answering that Mr. Robinson questioned whether "hell" and "damn" were profane in the light of present day usage.

"I thought so several years ago," he said, as the committee members smiled.

Couzens Joins Discussion.

Chairman Couzens joined the discussion with a remark that the commission had been rather slow in acting on complaints against the station, and observed that it was one instance where the public had become disgusted with inaction.

Mr. Robinson said more protests had been received against WHAP of New York, operated by Franklin Ford.

These complaints, he explained, were based on charges that the station was broadcasting anti-Catholic propaganda.

Public Hearing Is Set On Wild Fowl Measure

The House agriculture committee yesterday voted to hold a public hearing, January 27, on the McNary-Haugen bill, reducing the bag limits on migratory wild fowl.

This action by the committee is believed to have been prompted by the new regulations under the existing law, recently issued by the Department of Agriculture. Consequently, it is expected that the committee proposes to review the entire subject of the protection of migratory birds, especially ducks and geese. It has been charged that the action of the Agriculture Department was taken with the purpose of blocking passage of the pending bill.

Cement Merger Is Forecast.

Chicago, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—The Chicago Tribune tomorrow will say that announcement is expected from New York tomorrow of a merger whereby the Universal Portland Cement Co., subsidiary of United States Steel, will absorb the Atlas Portland Cement Co.

WILBUR DESCRIBES CHILD HEALTH WORK

DR. BARNARD ON PROGRAM

Work conducted by 500 experts on a score of committees under the guidance of President Hoover under the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection may have effects which will be felt by a whole generation of American children and passed on from one generation to the next and the next, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior and chairman of the White House conference, told the midwinter board meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday.

"It may establish standards for child study and applications which will steadily increase as the decades pass," Dr. Wilbur said. "It may point the way by which we may lead our children through their uncertain high pressure period with its rapidly bewildering changes and not suffer the loss of those mental and character qualities upon which we must depend for the stability and advance of our Nation."

"The problem of the child today must be brought out in new terms and viewed from an entirely new angle," he stated. "Take, for instance, the delinquent child. The delinquent child is often the neglected child. Practically every normal child is 'delinquent' at times. New types of procedure in dealing with the so-called delinquent child must be discovered. The breaking of home ties, for which the child is not at all responsible, may bring him into the juvenile or some other court and an indulgence in a rather normal impulse like that of stealing watermelons, a favorite country sport, may in some highly organized city result in his being charged with a crime.

Aid For Crippies.

"This whole question of care for children who find themselves in difficulties that are beyond the capacity of their years, needs to be approached with charity and understanding. It seems particularly important not to have court record or the name 'delinquent' stand against boys or girls if there is any good way to develop other methods and machinery."

Dr. Wilbur pointed out the necessity of finding means to aid the crippled child other than giving them a sense of inferiority—a terrific handicap to every growing boy and girl he declared. He expressed the belief that the final meeting of the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection will show a real development in medical service, public health service, administration education and training toward a more sympathetic and effective attitude.

Dr. H. E. Barnard, director of the White House conference on child health and portection, also spoke.

When women become informed and keep themselves informed on public affairs they will be able to discuss such affairs intelligently with others and thus extend their influence, Mrs. J. C. Pearson, chairman, of the department of American citizenship, said in her report.

Mrs. Pearson said that citizenship programs should have a frequent place on club schedules and that ten minutes of current affairs at each meeting means much more than a large citizenship meeting once a year.

Mrs. Owen Speaks.

Last night Representative Ruth Bryan Owen delivered a lecture on the taking of Palestine by the British. A musical program was given by Clay Coss, pianist.

In addition to her prepared address on the British in Palestine Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, who addressed the national board of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in session here, indulged in an impromptu description of her life as a congresswoman. Representative Owen went into great detail regarding the requirements for success in such a position and described a typical day in the life of a woman representative in Congress.

Mrs. John D. Sherman was made an honorary president of the federation, and Miss Florence Dibert, of president yesterday.

"What to Do With the Prisons" will be the subject of a conference which will be held this morning at the national headquarters under the auspices of the division of corrections.

The riots which have occurred in prisons in various sections of the country during the last few months will be discussed.

Dry Agent Absolved Of Blame in Shooting

The fatal shooting of William Bell, colored, at his home on Ninth street near V street northwest, by Eugene Jackson, colored dry agent, Thursday, was declared to be done in self-defense by a coroner's jury yesterday and Jackson was exonerated.

Jackson told police that he fired two shots at Bell after the latter flourished a pistol in his face. Jackson said that he was attempting to enter the house to search another colored man whom he suspected of having liquor. Police who investigated said that they found no evidence of Jackson's having had a warrant to search the house. Police said that they found seventeen cases of whisky in the dwelling. Charles Smith, colored, the man Jackson intended to search, was arrested on a charge of possession.

Detectives Halt Man Emptying Alleged Rum

Trailing unobserved in an automobile close behind, Fifth Precinct Detectives T. M. McVearry and F. H. Arrington yesterday morning drew up alongside a curb in front of an Eighth street residence near K street southeast to arrest Robert L. Pitts, 61 years old, of the same address, who was said to be attempting to empty a five-gallon container of liquor.

The detectives reported that they followed Pitts for 10 minutes through the Southeast section and that they were preparing to stop their machine behind Pitts' car when the man saw them and attempted to destroy the alleged evidence. He was said to have been subdued after a struggle and was charged with transportation and possession of five gallons of liquor, being released on $2,000 bond.

Blaze in Henderson Home.

Fire Engine Company and Truck Company No. 9 last night responded to a minor blaze in a chimney at the home of Mrs. John B. # Bolling Field to Have New System of Alarm

If Bolling Field ever has another crash it will be prepared to handle it with efficiency and dispatch.

In the past a siren mounted near headquarters has served the triple purpose of announcing the noon hour, fire and crashes. What might happen should a fire and a crash both occur exactly at noon is too confusing to contemplate. Furthermore, the infrequent crashes in the past have been attended with some difficulties by reason of the entire command being called to the scene by the wails of the siren.

Before very long this will be eliminated. A new and separate crash alarm is being installed which will summon only those agencies urgently needed.

Push buttons in the line maintenance office and in the operations office are being connected with gongs in the fire department and the surgeon's office. Should a crash occur either office can bring the ambulance, doctor and fire apparatus at once, without causing the whole post to turn out and possibly interfere with speedy and efficient work.

Hoover to Honor Ortiz Rubio Anew

Will Name J. Reuben Clark Special Ambassador at Inauguration.

President Hoover has determined to pay a special honor to Pascual Ortiz Rubio, President-elect of Mexico, and yesterday announced that he will appoint J. Reuben Clark as special ambassador to represent the United States at Senor Ortiz Rubio's inauguration in Mexico City on February 5.

Mr. Clark served as Undersecretary of State in the Coolidge administration. When Dwight W. Morrow became Ambassador to Mexico he took Mr. Clark with him as his personal adviser, on his personal pay roll. Mr. Clark is now in Mexico City.

It was learned also that the President may seek to have Mr. Clark act for Ambassador Morrow in Mexico during Mr. Morrow's prolonged absence as one of the American delegates to the London disarmament conference. There is also a possibility that President Hoover may appoint him to the full ambassadorship after Ambassador Morrow resigns from the Diplomatic Service in the spring in order to run for the Senate.

Senate Delays Giving New Post to Robsion

(Associated Press.)

Senate precedents arose in the path of Representative Robsion, of Kentucky, yesterday and prevented him from taking the oath as senator from his State to succeed Frederic M. Sackett until his credentials could arrive from Gov. Sampson.

Mr. Robsion presented himself in the Senate to take the oath as successor to Senator Sackett, who has seen confirmed as Ambassador to Germany, but Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, objected to the acceptance of credentials by wire.

Ousted Governor Asks Senate Seat

H. S. Johnson, Impeached in Oklahoma, Outlines Campaign Aims.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Henry S. Johnson, who was impeached and removed from office as governor of Oklahoma last spring on a charge of incompetency, today announced he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator next summer.

Mr. Johnson said he would announce his candidacy formally March 1, and that meanwhile he would work on his platform.

The former governor, who was ousted from office by a senate court of impeachment, said he probably would center his campaign fire against what he termed "boodlers and bribe takers" in public office and added that he would criticize Senator Pine, Oklahoma's Republican senator, for his vote to seat William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, in the United States Senate.

SEIZED BRITSH RUM SHIP TO BE GIVEN UP

Court Orders Vessel and 1,000 Cases of Liquor Returned to Owners.

PROOF OF GUILT LACKING

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Federal Judge Lake Jones late today ordered the British vessel Billy and Betty, seized by the Coast Guard off the Florida Coast last fall, returned to her owners, together with a cargo of 1,000 cases of liquor.

The Coast Guard claimed the seizure was made within the 12-mile limit and the vessel apparently was heading in to land her cargo on American soil.

W. B. Tucker, the master, however, asserted that his ship was not a rum-runner but was plying between two British ports. He said he had not intentionally entered the 12-mile limit but had drifted there because of a disabled engine.

Tucker said his vessel was plying between Nassau and Halifax and that he had been drifting for several days when seized.

The Coast Guard attempted to prove by maps and the position of certain buoys that the Billy and Betty was within the 12-mile limit when seized. However, one map showed the approximate position might have been a little more than 13 miles while the other brought the vessel inside the limit. It was testified that the buoys concerned might vary as much as two or three miles east or west, depending on ocean conditions.

Judge Jones held that the Coast Guard had not proved that the vessel was within the 12-mile limit, nor that it intended to unload the cargo on American soil.

WOMAN ACCUSES SENATE LOBBY PROBERS OF POLITICAL AIMS

matter. I don't know anything about it."

When Mrs. Jones' statement charging the committee with playing politics was read, she was asked if she meant that Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, also intended to "create political difficulties for President Hoover."

"That is the answer you want me to make," she told Senator Walsh.

"No, no," he replied. "I want you to say yes or no."

"I refuse to answer it," she asserted. "You want me to answer it so that the newspapers will publish it."

"Very well. You refuse to answer it?" replied Senator Walsh.

He then read the reference to "whitewashing activities" of the domestic sugar interests.

No Explanation Wanted.

"Do you want to know what I mean by that?" she demanded.

"No," Senator Walsh told her.

"No. See. You want nothing about that in the newspapers. That is the reason."

The statement added, "Perhaps the lobby committee is looking for an excuse to capitulate to the politically powerful domestic sugar interests."

Questioned about the statement, Mrs. Jones said she was afraid "You will not get up on the floor of the Senate and make a fight for low tariff."

"Perhaps you will be disappointed then," Senator Walsh told her.

"I hope so," she replied.

Statement Is Resented.

Later Senator Walsh said he "resented very much" the statement that the committee had acted with any desire "except to develop the facts on both sides."

"That was my opinion yesterday and it was my opinion this morning," she replied. "I might change my mind."

Henry Miller Service.

MRS. GALDYS MOON JONES.

Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, asked her if she knew of the "colloquy that took place yesterday between a senator supporting an increase in the sugar tariff and a member of this committee who was opposing any increase in the sugar tariff."

Mrs. Jones replied that if that were true, her statement was not justified. He promised to make an investigation.

BALTIMORE WOMAN'S DEATH IS BLAMED ON PARROT FEVER

has been performed under the direction of the department of pathology of the University of Maryland. A report on the autopsy will not be available until a bacteriological analysis has been completed and an exact diagnosis of the woman's death has been given.

Seven Other Cases Checked.

Seven other cases, believed to be psittacosis, in Maryland were at a standstill. Four employes of a pet shop in Baltimore, where a parrot which is believed to have communicated the disease to an Annapolis family of three was purchased, are ill and physicians said they believed the disease from which they are suffering is parrot fever. A veterinarian employed by the shop, one of the four, was reported improved today, though the three Annapolis persons were said at the hospital there to be in a serious condition.

The disease made its appearance at Annapolis after the death of a parrot bought at the Baltimore shop. Health department officials said that several other parrots received by the shop in the same shipment have become ill in the last several days. No quarantine has been established.

One of Same Shipment Here.

One parrot which was brought into Baltimore in the same shipment with the diseased bird believed to have been responsilbe for the illness of several in Annapolis, was reported yesterday to have been purchased by a Washington resident.

Dr. John E. Noble, bacteriologist of the District Health Department, on orders of Dr. William C. Fowler, health officer, examined the parrot, but found the bird to be healthy and in good condition.

Dr. Fowler said that he had no fear of the appearance of the disease in Washington.

Six Deaths in Germany.

Six deaths from psittacosis have been reported in Germany and one in Toledo, Ohio. In the United States eleven persons were critically ill—one in Toledo, three in Warren, Ohio, and seven in Baltimore, Md., and its vicinity. Germany reported at least twenty cases, including one entire family of nine persons in Dresden.

In each case a parrot had recently been brought into the home, and soon after its arrival had taken sick and died. Four of the persons ill in Baltimore are employed in a pet shop which recently received a shipment of birds from Brazil.

As the list of illnesses mounted, health officers, both Federal and local, started investigations yesterday, and Surgeon General Cumming of the United States Public Health Service, advised that contact with recently imported parrots be avoided.

First Wave in Argentina.

The disease, which attacks both parrots and human beings much as a combination of influenza and typhoid fever would, reached epidemic proportions late last October in the Argentine, according to a news dispatch at that time from Buenos Aires. Sixty persons were then ill with psittacosis in Buenos Aires, the dispatch stated, and there had been more than a score of deaths.

Physicians in Buenos Aires, however, were divided in their opinions as to whether psittacosis could be communicated to human beings from parrots. Distionaries generally describe it as a disease which humans may contract from parrots.

Although some doctors say that the disease can not be communicated from one human being to another, the McEntyre family, of Warren, Ohio, three of whom are ill, has been placed under quarantine.

German Scientist Victim.

Berlin, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—German toxicologists and veterinarians have been studying the death of Dr. Erich Harbort, a leading German geologist, and the illness of the rest of his family from psittacosis, or "parrot's disease."

Dr. Harbort, who was professor of mining engineering at the Berlin Polytechnic Institute, brought back four gorgeously feathered parrots from Brazil recently. The parrots are believed to have transmitted the disease to the professor, his wife, their two daughters, a servant girl, a seamstress and two friends of the family, all of whom became violenly ill at about the same time.

Dr. Harbort and the seamstress died of what was at first diagnosed as typhoid fever and double pneumonia in their respective cases. Two of the parrots also died, and it developed that a woman friend to whom the other two parrots had been given had fallen ill and showed similar symptoms to those of members of the professor's family.

Physicians learned further that the dead and the sick persons had come in close contact with the parrots by feeding and kissing them, and decided that the infection had been transmitted from the mucous membrane of the birds to the mucous of the human beings.

Freighter Heads for Honolulu to Get Medical Aid for Sick Man.

San Francisco, Calif., Jan. 10 (A.P.). The ship's carpenter critically ill with suspected smallpox, the freighter Golden Sun, en route from Manila and Hongkong, sent this radio message today.

"Man's condition not improved. Rest of crew well. Will arrive Honolula morning of 14th."

The message was received by the American Hawaiian Steamship Co., which operates the Golden Sun. Other messages from the Golden Sun told of her captain having changed his course to Honolulu instead of San Francisco as he sought medical aid for the sick man and freedom from contagion for 43 other men aboard.

House Leaders Assert Only Difference of Opinion Is Involved.

BILLS WILL PASS, BELIEF

as to why so much hullabaloo was raised. One conclusion was that the House and the President have struck it off so well together that they are so interdependent upon each other, that the mere mention of this disagreement caused cold shivers to race up the spines of everybody concerned.

There is something in the papers frequently about the Senate and the President being in disagreement. The Senate leaders do not rush to explain, and the White House has given up trying to. These splits are looked upon as matters of fact without any sensitiveness being touched off on either side.

For that matter, the hasty assurances of mutual esteer yesterday only served to emphasize the nature of the disagreement.

Matter Has Rocked Along.

While the White House subscribed to the view of the House leaders that the joint committee was not necessary, the President has attached considerable importance to it. Neither the House nor Senate liked the proposal when it was submitted last June, and the matter rocked along.

When it was learned during the Christmas holidays that the President expected the House to pass the resolution creating the joint committee as soon as it came back to work, it was assumed that the House had had a change of heart and would do so. In fact, it became known about this time that the President was waiting for this joint committee so his National Law Enforcement Commission could make its report.

Inquiries of House leaders the last several days revealed they were not yet enthusiastic about the proposal, but they met all inquiries with the statement that they would get to the joint committee presently. There were suggestions from time to time that they might modify it to preclude any opening up of a general prohibition airing.

Then they broke down and confessed Thursday, so to speak, that they had no intention of creating the joint committee. The news was a front-page bang yesterday morning. To those of the political mind it created as much excitement as would a catastrophe uptown.

Speaker Longworth, in his statement, said he did not "recollect" telling any reporter that the President's proposal was "ill advised." And at the White House, it was said, of course, the Speaker would not use such a term as that.

It is a fact, however, that that is exactly what the House leaders considered the President's proposal. A joint committee on prohibition, they were afraid, once going might go any and everywhere. Just send the legislation down, and they will pass it with as little prohibition talk and investigating as possible. That is their attitude.

Schafer Breaks Forth.

While the leaders were issuing their explanatory statements the booming voice of Representative Schafer, of Wisconsin, was sounding on the floor on the subject of "Prohibition and Christianity." It suggested a 21-gun salute.

"You must choose between prohibition and the Christian religion," he said. "You can not have both, for they are eternal opposites."

Prohibition, he charged, has "usnered in an age of corruption, intemperance, disrespect for law and contempt for government such as this Nation never before witnessed."

The House leaders do not mind occasional speeches like this. But that business about their splitting with the President was cause to give them worry, not only them, but also the President.

In the meantime, the President decided, since the joint committee is not to be, to take the Law Enforcement Commission's preliminary report, so-called, and send it up to Congress by Mr. Latta, the White House messenger, Monday. Had the joint committee been set up it would have saved Mr. Latta a trip.

And the commission itself, apparently responding to criticism that it had not been doing anything, or at least not courageously as it promised to do, issued a statement telling just what it has done about all the subjects it was charged with.

Of prohibition, it said, as if talking directly to Senator Borah:

"Special attention is being given to the administration of the law with respect to the manufacture and sale of industrial alcohol."

a large black sedan. Both victims are recovering in receiving hospitals.

The alleged plot was taken up after the attack and investigation ordered by Commissioner Rutledge, according to the story.

While the round-up of gangsters suspected of the shooting went forward another investigation was being carried on within the department.

Wednesday a meeting of high police officials was called. It was at this meeting according to the News, that Detective Van Coppenolles' charges were aired. The detective repudiated his alleged revelations at this time, the newspaper story stated. During the meeting statements were brought forth to the effect that the detective had been approached by the alleged inspector-conspirator with a plea to change his story and a promise to see that he was "taken care of," the story said. This angle also is said to have been denied by Detective Van Coppenolle. The meeting then adjourned with orders to Supt. Sprott to clear up the tangle.

Detective Van Coppenolle today branded the entire story as "a lot of hooey" and refused to comment further.

The prosecuting attorney's office, which had a representative at the meeting Wednesday, has let it be known that it contemplates no action and considers the matter one for disciplinary action within the department.

Commissioner Rutledge was closeted with other officials of the department today but declined to reveal the nature of these conferences.

Gov. Moody Plans Plea To President on Laredo

Austin, Tex., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Unless the State Department acts shortly to communicate officially with the Mexican government in an effort to influence the reopening of the consulate at Laredo, Gov. Moody will take the matter straight to President Hoover, he announced today.

After reading dispatches saying railroads have placed an embargo against Laredo because of congested conditions there caused by the closing of the consulate, and also a statement from Mexico City that no action was in sight, he called the State Department at Washington on telephone.

F. H. SMITH CO. BOND HOLDERS ORGANIZE

Committee for Owners of Securities Formed With Aid of Col. Landes.

$30,000,000 IS INVOLVED

New York, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—A stock and bond holders' committee of the F. H. Smith Co., stock brokers whose directors are under indictment in Washington charged with mail fraud in sale of securities, was formed here today.

The committee was formed under the direction of Col. Lewis Landes, attorney for several stock and bond holders, who yesterday applied for an equity receivership of the company.

Col. Landes said about $30,000,000 was involved in the Smith Co. affairs, affecting hundreds of persons all over the country.

A woman of Columbia, Pa., he said, wrote him that she had been "tempted last year" by an advertisement in a church publication and had invested her entire savings of $500.

Laborer Invested $7,000.

A laborer told Col. Landes he had invested $7,000, all he possessed, in issues offered by the company.

The bondholders committee, as named today, includes Charles E. Newton, former New York attorney general, of Geneseo; A. L. Malcolm, city solicitor of Catskill; Eric Fisher Wood, architect, Pittsburgh, Pa., representing several large holders, and Peter A. Miller, real estate dealer of Detroit and New York.

The seven directors of the company under indictment in Washington are Daniel R. Crissinger, former Comptroller of the Currency and former governor of the Federal Reserve Board; B. Bryan Pitts, of the Smith Co. board; Representative Fred N. Zihlman, of Maryland; Maj. Henry C. Maddux, chain hotel operator of Washington; J. H. Edwards, secretary of the Smith Co.; Samuel J. Henry, a director, and C. Elbert Annadale.

Paid for Use of Names, Claim.

In the receivership petition filed yesterday it was charged that Mr. Crissinger and Representative Zihlman "received large sums of money for the use of their names" by the company in its stock and bond promotion ventures.

Nugent Dodds, special Assistant United States Attorney General, is in New York making a further investigation of the company with the view of seeking indictments in the Federal courts here, a precautionary measure to protect the investors of this State, who, he said, made up the bulk of the Smith Co. clients.

The records of the company have been subpenaed for the Federal grand jury.

HOOVER TO BE ASKED TO REVIEW PARADE

Alexandria Furthers Plans on Washington Birthday Celebration.

REPORTS ARE RECEIVED

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The George Washington Birthday Association met last night in the George Mason Hotel to discuss plans for the celebration and parade to be held February 22, and to hear reports from the various committee chairmen.

It was decided that the committee recently appointed to extend an invitation to President Hoover to review the parade should visit the White House on Monday. After extending the formal invitation to the President, the same committee will go to Richmond, personally to invite Gov. John Garland Pollard, and an invitation will also be extended the State Legislature.

The committee is composed of C. C. Carlin, former Representative in Congress from the Eighth District of Virginia; Mayor William Albert Smoot, J. William May, Col. John H. Trimyer, Martin E. Green, Carroll Pierce, W. B. Fulton, of Potomac, and Harry D. Kirk, president of the association.

The selection of a grand marshal for the parade was discussed but action was deferred, this selection being somewhat contingent upon the acceptance of the President.

Harry F. Kennedy, reporting for the finance committee, detailed his plans for raising funds for the celebration and suggested that a button be prepared and one given to each contributing member of the association. A house-to-house canvass for funds also was suggested. The buttons, if adopted, will bear the words "George Washington Birthday Association—1930."

Reports were made by O. Ashby Reardon, on entertainment; Roger B. Sullivan, on music; Thomas Chauncey on decorations and reviewing stand; William Kleysteuber, on citizens associations; and former Mayor W. B. Fulton, of Potomac, who pledged his support and that of the citizens of Potomac to the success of the celebration.

Police Capt. Campbell, spoke of the use of the Boy Scouts as aids to the police, and said he would welcome their assistance. It is understood the officials in charge of the scouts in this district have offered the services of 150 boys.

Francis H. Fannon, chairman of the publicity committee, outlined his plans, which were approved, and which included furnishing photographs and copy to the leading newspapers in this section and in the East. He named the members of his committee as Michael T. Dwyer, Charles M. Shepperson, Howard Baggett, Emmett E. Lawler, jr., Hollis Nugent and John B. Gordon.

J. William May stated that the present plans in Richmond provide for the unveiling of a monument to the Seventeenth Virginia Confederate Regiment, on February 22, but that if the governor accepts the invitation to participate in the celebration here, he felt that the date of the unveiling of the Confederate monument could be deferred, in which event the Richmond Light Infantry Blues would in all probability act as escort for the governor. The governor's acceptance will probably be contingent upon that of the President.

Another meeting of committees will be held next Friday night in the George Mason Hotel.

A Boy Scout Court of Honor will be held at 7 o'clock this evening at Gadsby's Tavern, when approximately 25 Scouts will appear for advancement. There will be promotions to first and second class scouts and several other promotions.

This will be the first time the Scouts have ever met in historic Gadsby's Tavern, which is now the property of Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion. The latter organization loaned their meeting room to the Scouts for the occasion.

The Court of Honor is composed of Harry B. Caton, chairman; James M. Duncan, jr., Walter Pierpoint, City Manager Wallace Lawrence, W. J. Reynolds, Lawrence Roland, Everett Hellmuth, W. A. Van Doren, of Cherrydale (field executive of Scout work in Arlington County), and W. L. Leitch, assistant Scout executive.

A storm water sewer is now in course of construction by the city, from Hoofs Run to Russell road, south of Chapman street. The sewer will be 2,000 feet long and varies in size from 12 to 36 inches in diameter, and is of terra cotta construction. The estimated cost is $20,000, the funds for which will come out of the $650,000 bond issue recently authorized by the council.

The First National Bank has installed the first night depository service Alexandria has ever known, which consists of a bronze box in the front wall of the building. It is intended primarily for the use of merchants and others who desire to deposit at night or after banking hours, on Sundays or holidays. Special keys will be provided for patrons of the deposit box.

FIEDLER RITES TODAY.

Madison Fiedler, 80 years old, who died Thursday at his home, 81 V street northwest, will be buried this afternoon in the Rock Creek Cemetery. Services will be held at the residence at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Fiedler was an employe of the District government for 25 years. Since he came from Germany 76 years ago he had resided in Washington and nearby Maryland. He was retired from government service in 1922.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by six children, Mrs. Edward M. Robinson, Mrs. Clarence G. Solomon, Mrs. Luther H. Adair, Milton A., Jouvenal M., and Lionel R., all of this city; four sisters and two brothers.

MRS. F. I. CLARK RITES.

Funeral Services to Be Held at Late Residence Today.

Funeral services for Mrs. Frances I. Clark, 73 years old, who died Thursday at her home, 1280 Bladensburg road northeast, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence. Burial will be in the Congressional Cemetery.

Mrs. Clark was a native of England. In addition to her husband she is survived by three sons, William L., George A., and Alfred J., and three daughters, Mrs. Bessie Marshall, Mrs. Daisy Souder, and Mrs. Viola Smith.

Two Farms Investigated As McGuffey Birthplace

Search to Establish Exact Spot Where Famous Writer of Primers Came Into World Narrows to Southern Washington County, Virginia.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 10.—A letter pulished in a Pittsburgh newspaper has renewed interest in the search for the birthplace of John Holmes McGuffey, who wrote school readers attaining a circulation of at least 80,000,000 and also for many years held the chair of moral philosophy and political economy at the University of Virginia.

Some of those who are familiar with the much-thumbed readers think that their author was born in Ohio, where he lived at one time. Others think him a Virginian. Biographers of McGuffey set forth correctly that he was born in 1800 in Washington County.

In Washington County, however, there are 862 square miles and nearly 70 towns and villages, and for a long time the closest information on the exact place of McGuffey's birth was "in the southern part of the county." A large amount of searching has revealed that he was born on one of two farms. The Claysville Farm, on which stands the two-story frame building said to have been occupied by the McGuffey family more than a century ago, has been investigated without definite result by agents of Henry Ford. A homestead near Good Intent contains some relics of the McGuffey family. One of these is an ancient Bible, in which are records making reference to members of John McGuffey's family. The search is now being resumed to decide between these two locations.

When interest in McGuffey was renewed by a letter complaining of vagueness with regard to his birthplace, many replies were received, some of them offering information and some relating features of the early schools in which the beloved McGuffey readers were used.

At the University of Virginia, where he stayed until his death in 1873, McGuffey was one of the est-known professors, his most outstanding trait being his love of argument. McGuffey Hall, one of the new dormitories at the university, is named for him, as is Charlottesville's primary school.

GREAT BRITAIN OFFERS TO CUT NUMBER OF CRUISERS TO 50

ture of certain questions which have been put in the press, I think it would be opportune for me, as first lord of the admiralty, to explain the admiralty's views.

"Our estimate of the defense requirements of the British empire has been summed up in the policy of successive governments to his majesty here and in the dominions: Namely, a one-power naval standard.

Washington Parley Mentioned.

"In the matter of capital ships this has been very simply expressed in the form of parity with the greatest other naval power. This was the main achievement of the Washington conference.

"In the matter of cruisers it is not so simple, and this was the crux of the Geneva conference of three powers, which failed to reach an agreement.

"One of the most important aims of the London conference will be to reconcile our defense needs in the matter of cruisers with the requirements of an international agreement.

"After the Washington conference, at which the question of cruiser strength was only to a limited extent touched upon the board of admiralty advised the government of the day of their views of the needs of the British empire in cruiser strength.

Number Was 70 Then.

"The number, which is based on the needs of defense for our world-wide vital sea communications, was fixed at 70. That was the number for which we held out at Geneva. That is the number which, had conditions remained the same, would be our requirement today.

"But today we have to take account of the new situation which has arisen through the signature of the pact of Paris outlawing war by most of the nations of the world, including all the major naval powers, and not only by those who are members of the League of Nations, but also by the United States, who by their authorship of this pact took their second great step in the practical solution of the world's need for assured peace.

"With such powerful support for peace we feel justified in looking forward to a period in which armed conflicts need not be expected.

To Agree to 50 Cruisers.

"The board of admiralty, therefore, having regard to all the circumstances of today and especially to the pact of Paris and to improved world political relationships, are prepared to agree to 50 cruisers as the minimum needs of the empire up to the date for a conference and a revision, which we expect to be near 1936.

"I must emphasize that this figure is the lowest we feel can be fixed to meet even peace conditions in present world circumstances.

"The responsibility of the British commonwealth, both imperially and internationally, including large commitments to the League of Nations, is enormous, and the Navy is required again and again—as illustrated in the recent Palestine disturbances—to take both precautionary and effective action in carrying out our obligations to keep the peace in some parts of the world even when the major powers of the world are at peace.

Hopes for Permanent Peace.

"We hope that international peace will be permanent, and that a further agreement in 1936 will confirm and extend the present agreement.

"But if, unhappily, the international horizon should become in the future less unclouded than it is today, it will be upon the board of admiralty to review their position and to make further proposals to his majesty's government.

"The proposed reduction in the number of cruisers to 50 is of course dependent on agreement at the forthcoming conference on adequate limitation of projected building programs being made by the other powers.

Stabilization Is Wanted.

"Our aim is to reduce existing commitments and to stabilize our position by mutual agreement with others, avoiding competitive building and the expenditure of excessive sums of money.

"The naval conference upon which we are entering will probably be the greatest of its kind ever held in the history of the world and no delegates of the British nation can afford not to be impressed with the importance and the responsibility of the occasion.

"In 1921 and 1922 at Washington we achieved an agreement with regard to capital ships and on the assumption that we adopted a one-power standard we then conceded to America parity with regard to capital ships. That agreement still runs and ultimately our strength of capital ships will be reduced to fifteen. But so far as we are concerned we should very much like to see, if replacements are to take place as they must take place, a capital ship which would be less expensive to build and to maintain than the ships involved in the maximum tonnage laid down in the Washington treaty.

Cruiser Ratio Pact Lacking.

"There has never been an agreement with regard to the ratios of cruisers and destroyers. We said to America we were prepared to concede full and friendly parity between this country and theirs in naval strength in all the categories, in addition to those agreed upon in 1921 and 1922.

"At whatever point we think requirements will allow us to come down to we should be quite willing for the other great English-speaking nation to take parity with us, ship for ship and ton for ton, but the difficulty has been that after you have agreed on the general principle of parity there has not been any agreement as to how the total tonnage covered by the parity should be allocated and as to what size a ship should be built inside that tonnage.

"The difficulty up to the present has been to get agreement as to what should be the proper equation of the effective parity between us and the United States.

Lasting Pact Sought.

"That was the position when the prime minister made his visit to the United States. We hope now we shall arrive at a lasting basis of agreement not only on the question of parity between ourselves and America, but also in regard to ratios between ourselves and other countries.

"There are two other main categories, destroyers and submarines, which must come under review. The extent to which you can get very substantial reductions in destroyer provision depends upon the measure of success you can get in regard to reduction in submarines.

"I have never hesitated to say that nothing would please us more, from the humanitarian point of view, than complete abolition of the submarine, but there are difficulties to get the consent of other powers with regard to proposals in this respect. At the same time it ought to be possible to have some measure of reduction.

Frank Relationship Desired.

"It has been quite obvious that the feeling between ourselves and America has not always been of the best, and since the war something has wanted doing. I am quite sure now that we are in for a more free and frank relationship than at one time had appeared likely."

S. S. George Washington, at Sea, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, leading the American delegation to the five-power naval conference in London, today held his first conference with newspapermen in accordance with a plan which he expects to continue throughout the trip.

He announced that at his request Secretary of War Hurley had ordered Lieut. Col. Charles Burnett, of the Cavalry branch, to London to assist the delegation in its Japanese contacts and to serve in an advisory capacity on military affairs.

British Act Applauded.

The news contained in the announcement by First Lord of Admiralty A. V. Alexander that Britain had cut her minimum cruiser requirement from 70 to 50 came as no surprise to the American delegation bound for the five-power conference, but elicited general applause.

The Americans, including Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, particularly were pleased by the remark of Mr. Alexander that the decision had been brought about by the Kellogg antiwar pact and improved world conditions since the Washington conference.

Secretary Stimson is known to have great confidence in the value of the antiwar pact in the considerations of the coming conference. He is hopeful that other nations besides Great Britain and the United States will take the pact into consideration at the conference in efforts to limit further sea armaments.

Silent on Sheffield Speech.

Mr. Stimson and members of the delegation, however, declined to comment when told by the Associated Press of the speech in Sheffield. It was felt that Anglo-American desires had some time since been made known in both Washington and London.

The Secretary of State said he had read radio press dispatches from Paris reporting the French had declined to agree to Italian parity. He withheld any comment on this, however, feeling that such questions are solely matters to be considered at the parley.

Mr. and Mrs. Stimson continue to take their meals in the main dining salon, although all delegates and their immediate parties are spending much time in their suites except for occasional walks along the decks.

This steamship tonight made its way eastward with the best speed compatible with the intermittent fog banks and rain squalls encountered. It is expected the party will reach London on January 17 before the close of business, and efforts will be made to permit its arrival even earlier on that day.

Attorney Is Accused As Bad-Check Passer

Accused of passing a worthless $500 check on the Park Savings Bank, Ralph Elliott Walker, 60 years old, an attorney, will be arraigned today in Police Court. The attorney, who lives on Eighth street northwest near Ingraham street, was arrested yesterday by Detective Sergts. Ira E. Keck and Bernard W. Thompson.

The detectives have a warrant, sworn out by Charles C. Columbus, teller at the bank, which alleged that he cashed a check for the attorney and that the check was found to be worthless.

BUFFALO EDUCATOR TALKS ON VOCATIONS

Dr. E. C. Hartwell Favors Only Normal Students for Special Training.

SYSTEM IS ADVOCATED

The stigma that is often attached to undeveloped vocational schools must be removed by permitting only normal pupils, or those of higher rating, who have completed elementary and grade school work to enter them if the system is to be successful, Dr. E. C. Hartwell, superintendent of Buffalo schools, told members of the District committee on vocational education at the Franklin Building yesterday afternoon.

Discussing the growth and the present status of trade schools in Buffalo, which are ranked among the foremost in the country, Dr. Hartwell said that it was not until a rule was adopted that no pupil could take straight vocational work until he had completed the eighth grade of the regular public school curriculum that Buffalo vocational schools were recognized by labor and employers. Such normal pupils are placel in separate schools.

Now every boy who passed two years' training given by these schools is placed in the industry, he said. More than $4,000,000 is invested in plants and equipment, 35 trades are taught and more adults are instructed at night than youths during the day.

How Time Is Divided.

The education given these potential artisans is not confined, however, to the trade in which they are interested. Only half of the student's time is spent in the shop, the other half is spent in the classroom studying subjects in books.

English, history and other academic courses are required, but they are especially adapted to the needs of the would-be tradesman. Music and the drama are taught, bands are organized and plays are presented.

The schools likewise have athletic programs just as do the academic high schools.

Training Is Chief Object.

"We are interested primarily in training men," Dr. Hartwell said. "The trade, while fundamental, is of secondary importance."

The teachers of these trade schools are of two classes, the members of the committee were told. For the instructors in academic subjects, the same requirements are demanded as of those who teach in the academic high schools.

The teachers of the trade are skilled artisans, chosen from the industry itself, and then given supplementary training in the art of pedagogy.

Good Salaries Are Paid.

Their salaries are comparatively high, Dr. Hartwell said, but they do not reach the scale of union wages. Often the men are willing to make this financial sacrifice because they enjoy teaching. There are other compensations, however, such as pensions and less actual working time.

The Buffalo trade schools have not only the support and cooperation of labor and industry, the superintendent declared, but they have their advice as well.

A placement officer keeps in touch with the industry and seeks to put boy graduates in the best jobs. He is also able to equalize the supply and the demand.

Questions Are Raised.

Members of the committee, which was appointed by Dr. Charles F. Carusi, president of the Board of Education, following an attack on the District vocational schools by the Central Labor Union, through John B. Colpoys, questioned the speaker at length following his informal talk.

Following the discussion, the committee was assured by its chairman, Mr. Colpoys, and other members, that the congressional District committees are willing to cooperate in development of trade schools in the District just as soon as the special committee has decided upon the best method of procedure and the particular needs of Washington.

The next meeting of the committee will be at 4:30 o'clock, Friday afternoon, January 24, when Frank Cushman, of the Federal Vocational Board, will speak.

Arizona Arrests Man Wanted Here

Prisoner Held in Phoenix Thought to Be R.L. Reid, Alleged Embezzler.

Police were notified yesterday of the arrest in Phoenix, Ariz., of a man believed to be Robert L. Reid, 41 years old, who was indicted in this city in February, 1928, on a charge of embezzlement of $27,000 from Don H. Foster, local broker, and who has been sought for the last two years.

The man, who gave his name to Phoenix authorities as David R. Reid, and said he was engaged in a mining promotion deal for reopening of the Silver King Mine in Pinal County, Ariz., according to Associated Press dispatches, will be returned to this city by a deputy United States marshall. Information furnished by local police lead to the arrest.

Reid, according to police, persuaded Foster to invest $27,000 in an organization for reclamation and development of land in Southern States for building sites. When Foster, at length, was unable to gain a satisfactory showing after the investment, he complained to police and went before the local grand jury. Detectives Ira E. Keck and Bernard W. Thompson have been conducting a search for Reid since the return of the indictment.

Way to Testify Told Policeman by Pratt

Policemen should give their testimony in court with "an utter lack" of personal feeling, Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, declared in a memorandum yesterday to Sergt. O. S. Hunt, of the Police School, ordering that instruction in the proper preparation and presentation of evidence by policemen be made a part of the school work.

The school, Maj. Pratt said, affords "a wonderful opportunity" for "the purpose of stressing the importance of preparation and presenting evidence in cases which may be tried before the courts in such manner as to show the utter lack of personal feeling on the part of officers and to impress the court and juries with the fairness and impartial manner in which testimony is given."

EXPERTS ADVOCATE ONE-MAN TROLLEYS

CALLED SAFER, QUICKER

Advantages of the one-man-controlled street car over the two-man type were outlined yesterday by the city planning committee of the Federation of Citizens Associations at a meeing in the Mayflower Hotel.

J. A. Queeney, vice president in charge of operations of the Mitten Management, Inc., of Philadelphia, and Charles Hansel, transportation expert of New York City, explained to the committee the additional safety and rapidity of movement which the one-man car affords over the two-man control.

Mr. Queeney declared that the adoption of the one-man car in Washington would effect a saving of nearly $1,000,000 a year, which in turn could be used for the betterment of service.

Says Public Prefers It.

He mentioned the cities and sections throughout the country which are now being served exclusively or partially by one-man cars, and declared that when the public adjusts itself to their use it prefers the smaller type to the larger cars.

Through a gradual change in the method of operation, he said, experience has shown that the accident rate was correspondingly lowered and that a more rapid schedule was established.

On each occasion that the change was advocated, he said, the transportation company invariably met opposition from labor unions because they feared that the institution of such a plan would cause a reduction of personnel. Disapproval of the plans were also met on the part of politicians who found a political issue.

Fears Found Baseless.

Experience has shown, he averred, that this opposition was without warrant, as in most cases the change was effected without reduction of labor, and that the public generally was satisfied.

He declared that the only real solution to the transportation problem in Washington is the application of the plan of public ownership and private operation. He also proposed a unified system operating street cars, buses and taxicabs.

Mr. Hansel spoke along similar lines, drawing most of his subject matter from the transportation survey he conducted here in 1927. Maj. Clayton E. Emig, chairman of the committee, presided.

"Peeping Tom" Charge Leads to Arrest of Boy

Complaints during the last three weeks from nurses at Children's Hospital that a "peeping Tom" made occasional forays up and down the fire escape led to the arrest of a 13-year-old colored youth, Joseph M. Kendal, of Twelfth place northwest, near W street northwest, by Eighth Precinct police on disorderly conduct charges early yesterday.

One of four plain clothes men on detail at the hospital, Detective W. R. Laflin, sighted the youth on a fire escape of the building, gave chase and pursued him across the roof and down the opposite fire escape to the ground, where the boy fell into the arms of Sergt. A. L. Bullock. Kendal was removed to the House of Detention.

the executive mansion. The polite, but firm guardian insisted on retaining the camera until she and her mother were ready to leave.

Miss Dolly decided that an eyeful of just rooms wasn't such a lot and so she stood around until Yukon, the big white husky, who is an important member of the President's menage, joined her. They became friends instantly and indulged in a subdued romp, which was ended abruptly when Yukon tore Dolly's dress with his paw. After explaining to a watchful attendant that the dress could be repaired, Dolly and her mother returned to their home.

Shortly after their return a man arrived in a White House car and explained that he had been sent by Mrs. Hoover to inquire what the damages amounted to. He was insistent and finally left with information as the cost of the dress. Some time later he returned with Mrs. Hoover's regrets over the mishap and the money to pay for a new dress. Best of all to Miss Dolly, however, was an invitation from the First Lady to call on the President and herself at the White House.

And did Miss Dolly and her mother call on the President and Mrs. Hoover? Well, she has her autograph album to prove it, and she is quite ready to give three cheers for Yukon any time the subject comes up.

Howards Plan Canadian Trip During Month

British Envoy and Wife to Visit Governor General.

By JEAN ELIOT.

THE British Ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard will pay a farewell visit to Canada before their final departure from Washington, with Sir Esme Howard's retirement from the Diplomatic Corps. They will leave town on January 21 for New York, whence they will go to Ottawa to be guests of the Governor General of Canada and Lady Willingdon until February 1. In New York they will attend a dinner to be given in their honor on January 22 by Mrs. Whitelaw Reid.

A reception will follow the dinner which the Ambassador and Lady Isabella will give at the embassy next Wednesday evening in honor of Gen. Jan Smuts. This is but one of a series of hospitalities being planned for the distinguished South African soldier and statesman, who is to be a visitor in Washington next week. The Minister of South Africa and Mrs. Eric Louw will give a dinner for him on Monday evening and on Tuesday the minister is planning a man's luncheon at the Metropolitan Club. Commander of the Boer forces in Cape Colony in the Boer War, Gen. Smuts later commanded the British troops in British East Africa in the World War and served as African representative in the imperial war cabinet. Once a rebel, he is now regarded as one of Britain's great empire builders.

On Monday evening the British Ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard are to be guests of honor at a dinner to be given by the Minister of China and Mme. Wu.

In spite of her numerous engagements as hostess and guest prior to her departure, Lady Isabella Howard is finding time to sponsor a farewell benefit for several Washington charities in which she has been interested since coming to the United States. This is a lecture to be given at the Willard next Friday afternoon by Miss Margaret Baxter, fellow of the Royal Empire Society, and a distinguished traveler from Australia.

Some of the phases touched upon in the series of talks Miss Baxter has prepared for her American tour are "Glimpses of Old London," which is illustrated; "Some Famous English Gardens," and "Intimate Glimpses of Royalty," gleaned at first hand at the Court of St. James.

In addition to the British Ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard, Miss Baxter is sponsored by the Dowager Countess of Jersey, president of the Victoria League, and her countryman, Gen. Rosenthal, who commanded the Australian imperial forces on Salisbury Plain.

Fifth Ave. Fashions NEW YORK

THE new feminine elegance of the mode demands many frocks of semiformal character in milady's wardrobe this season.

The one sketched in new jacquard silk crepe in rich plum tones, is simply adorable, and so entirely wearable. It can be slipped into in the morning for a hurried shopping trip, and then worn for bridge or to dash into fashionable restaurant for tea.

The skirt is circular at back and belted at normal waistline, while the front achieves a swathed movement to soften the line of straight panel effect that gives such charming length. At left side below scallops, there is a circular inset that provides gracious swing to hem.

Style No. 8247 accentuates slimness, through clever forethought of design—who has carried out every detail to give wearer height.

It can be had in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust.

LACK OF PREPARATION.

France tells Italy that naval parity between the two nations is unthinkable.

Italy tells France that the idea of a Mediterranean nonaggression pact signed by France, Italy, Spain and Great Britain is unthinkable.

Prime Minister MacDonald selects his naval advisers and leaves out Lord Jellicoe and Lord Beatty. He holds a conference with the Japanese delegation, which demands a cruiser strength equal to 70 per cent of the British cruiser strength. A Japanese delegate, when asked how the conference is going, replies: "Everything is going most satisfactory. It could not be otherwise."

Rome reports that the hope of an agreement between Italy and France at London are "dimmed," and that "the French idea is not in accord with the true spirit of disarmament."

France tells Italy that the proper course to pursue is for each nation to determine for itself what its national needs require, and then to agree to limitation on that basis.

Gen. Smuts tells Americans that "national needs" can not serve as the basis of a naval agreement. His idea is that national needs should give way to the Kellogg pact, provided the Kellogg pact is interpreted by the League of Nations.

The United States, Great Britain, France, Japan and Italy insist that their national needs shall be safeguarded in any naval agreement. Although they give lip-service to the Kellogg pact, they disagree with Gen. Smuts on the subject of national needs. This is the only point upon which all the five governments agree.

Ramsay MacDonald, at his wits' end to find means of holding the Labor government in power, has brought about a naval conference without having first found a common ground of agreement among the nations concerned. Instead of obtaining a preliminary understanding that would insure the success of a conference, he has called the conference first, and is now frantically trying to induce the governments to reach accords before January 21.

Every interchange between France and Italy has served to widen the breach between them. Every conversation with Japan reveals that no agreement will be reached unless the United States and Great Britain accede to Japan's demands.

As the American delegation sails away Senator Reed says:

> There is less intrigue, less so-called "diplomacy," in this coming conference than in any other international discussion heretofore.

That is true, so far as the United States is concerned. But Senator Reed hasn't seen anything yet.

Ambassador Dawes impatiently awaits the arrival of his American confreres. He stands upon the impregnable logic and common sense of his conclusion of last June:

PROFANITY BY RADIO.

Senator Dill has performed a public service by calling attention to the profane and indecent language that is being used by some radio broadcasters. Recent efforts have been made to improve the quality of programs and to keep announcements of quack remedies off the air. It is much more important to make certain that those who address radio audiences employ language that is fit for the public to hear.

Why is it necessary to call the attention of the Radio Commission to this condition? Senator Dill reports that a majority of the commission has taken the attitude that it has no authority to stop the use of profanity and obscene language on the air. But the law specifically provides that "no person within the jurisdiction of the United States shall utter any obscene, indecent or profane language by means of radio communication." Two remedies may be invoked against persons who use the channels allotted to them to broadcast revolting language. If the Federal Radio Commission did not wish to revoke the license of the offending station, why did it not call upon the Attorney General for criminal prosecution?

The best remedy seems to lie in the revocation of licenses of broadcasters who permit abuses of this kind. It should be a definitely established policy of the commission to silence any station that insults the American radio audiences. Most of the broadcasting stations conform to high standards in their addresses. There is no excuse for licensing radio channels to individuals who indulge in profanity or obscenity.

NO JOINT COMMITTEE.

President Hoover's plan of having a joint congressional committee work out ways and means of making prohibition enforcement effective has been rejected by the House of Representatives. Apparently the House leaders are favorable toward certain specific legislation that the President recommends, but they have decided that each proposal must be considered separately by the proper House committee.

Speaker Longworth's explanation makes the position of the House perfectly clear. It was feared that the joint committee would follow the precedent so well established by bodies of that nature and take several months to report. Congress is not favorably inclined toward handling legislation by any but the established methods, and there is no reason why an exception should be made in the case of prohibition.

The competence of a special committee to prepare legislation such as is called for in the resolution without months of investigation might be questioned. Subjects to be dealt with include a unified border patrol, strengthening of the Coast Guard and transfer of the prohibition enforcement agencies from the Treasury to the Department of Justice. These proposals involve many important matters aside from the control of liquor traffic. It is not surprising that the House was not willing to act upon them without detailed consideration by its own committees. Members of the ways and means, interstate and foreign commerce and judiciary committees, to which these measures will be referred, are familiar with the problems that are likely to arise out of the proposed changes, and they will be in a position to deal with each specific proposal.

The experience of the National Law Enforcement Commission discourages hope that any number of committees or commissions will be able to lead the country out of the prohibition bog. The more the subject is investigated the more inflammatory it becomes. Creation of a joint committee would have created a superfluous link in the chain of agencies through which the administration hopes to make prohibition effective. It would have been a case of the expert commission turning over its findings to a special committee for report to Congress, plus committee action and debate on the floors of both houses and possible controversy in conference. In view of the highly combustible nature of this question, the Capitol would be in danger of a serious scorching before the process could be completed. Quiet deliberation can not be hoped for under any circumstances, but Congress will, no doubt, approach the subject in a more propitious mood if the established method of procedure is followed.

RETIREMENT AT 60.

Hearings on the Dale bill, which the Senate passed this week, will begin before the civil service committee of the House next Wednesday. The Federation of Federal Employes will make an attempt to have the bill amended so as to provide for optional retirement at 60 years of age for all Government workers who have been in the service 30 years or more.

In view of the fact that only one amendment is necessary to make the bill satisfactory to Federal employes and the Civil Service Commission, Congress has an opportunity of dismissing the whole question of retirement legislation in this one act. There should be little opposition to this change in the House, since that body passed a bill reducing the retirement age limit to 60 years last year. In fairness to Government workers the House should restore this clause and send the bill back to the Senate for its concurrence.

The Dale bill provides optional retirement at 60, 63 and 68 years. But approximately one-fourth of those working for the Government at 60 die before they reach 68, and thus would be denied the benefits of their own contributions to the fund. The Civil Service Commission found that a large percentage of employes leave the service for total disability before they are entitled to retirement. Thousands of others who are partly disabled and incapable of carrying on efficient work are forced to remain in service because they are not eligible for retirement.

The Government has found that 95 per cent of all employes who reach retirement age desire to keep on working when able to do so. There is no chance that a large number of employes still able to work would give up their positions for a maximum annuity of $1,200 per year. Reduction of the retirement age to 60 years would give the disabled a chance to retire, and the able a chance to continue working. The recommendation of the federation is fundamentally sound, both from the standpoint of justice to employes and efficient service for the Government.

In order to obviate the argument of economy, the federation suggests that all expenses for the first five years be paid from the fund of more than $83,000,000 which has been built up from their own salaries. Annual payments to this fund by employes amount to $28,500,000, almost twice the amount of disbursements and refunds. Annual receipts would no doubt be more than ample to care for the increased benefits. Since the contributions of both employes and Congress total $146,000,000, there appears to be no sound financial argument against this liberalization. Government workers are entitled to have the benefits of their own money. Congress should make a final disposition of retirement legislation by adopting the Dale bill with this proposed amendment.

CAN SCIENCE CREATE LIFE?

Dr. Paul R. Heyl, physicist of the United States Bureau of Standards, is of the opinion that some day life will be created in the laboratory. "There is nothing occult or supernatural in the processes of life, and eventually we will unravel its secret," he told the New York Electrical Society. "Protoplasm is nothing but a chemical compound. I see no reason why some day we shall not be able to produce it."

There seems to be no doubt that science will be able to put together the chemical substances of protoplasm, but whether it will be alive when the synthesis is complete is quite another question. Dr. Heyl bases his hope on the achievements of Prof. Hans Fisher, of Germany, who claims to have duplicated with ordinary chemicals that part of the blood corpuscles which carries oxygen from the lungs to the tissues of the body. Since this process is intimately connected with life, he believes, scientists may eventually assume the role of creators.

The consequences of synthetic production of life might furnish an interesting subject for speculation, if there were the slightest probability of any such accomplishment. In spite of the progress of science, life remains the most baffling mystery of nature. It seems probable that knowledge of life will be extended and part of the mystery may be removed, but the presumption that the spark of intelligence can ever be created in the laboratory is entertained by only a very few. All the progress that has been made by science appears insignificant in comparison with the gulf which still separates physicists from the mystery of life.

Hope that life may be created in the laboratory seems to be based on the assumption that life is physicial. Experience and reason point to the existence of intelligence beyond the mere physical operation of the brain. Nothing that science or any other branch of learning has found justifies departure from the belief that life is incorporeal and can not be created.

EXPLAINING MR. COOLIDGE

From the Hartford Courant.

Because former President Coolidge has seen fit to decline all invitations to speak at political gatherings, because he has refused to state his attitude on questions pending in Congress, because he has been unwilling to talk for publication on any matter involving politics, and because he is living very unostentatiously in his two-family house at Northampton various persons have undertaken to interpret what all this means. Not a few of them have reached the conclusion that Mr. Coolidge surmises that all may not go well with the Hoover administration and that its popularity will have so far waned by 1932 that Republicans may become alarmed and again turn to him for leadership. They say this explains why he is remaining so quietly at Northampton instead of accepting one of the numerous business or professional offers he must have received.

All such talk does Mr. Coolidge great injustice. It seems to us that his real attitude has been defined with accuracy by Mr. Arthur S. Henning, Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, who recently paid him a visit. Mr. Henning gathers the impression that Mr. Coolidge feels that President Hoover is acquitting himself splendidly and that he can best aid him by pursuing a policy of self-effacement. Were he to talk on any of the problems with which the administration is concerned, and especially should he express views that might not be in harmony with the President's then he would very likely be accused of trying to embarrass the President and possibly with a view to his own preferment in 1932. Furthermore, if he were the least disposed to comment, it is represented that he has not been following public questions with sufficient closeness to make his comment of any particular value, although we should question that.

Mr. Coolidge is said to take a philosophical view of the repeated suggestions that he should be urged to stand again for the Presidency, if not in 1932 at least in 1936. He observed to Mr. Henning that "This is one of the phenomena attendant upon the former Presidency unless the retired Executive be in ill health," which Mr. Coolidge certainly is not. No President ever came through the trying experiences in better physical and mental condition than Mr. Coolidge. At 57 he is fit as a fiddle.

The sum and substance of all this is that Mr. Coolidge is simply going to be Mr. Coolidge. He is not going to say anything or do anything that will in any way entangle himself or beset Mr. Hoover and the Republican party. That is one of the very good reasons why he will have nothing to do with the Massachusetts senatorship. He is living his own life at Northampton in his own way and when he chooses to live it differently he will do so. In the meantime he understands Mr. Hoover, and Mr. Hoover understands him.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FUN.

The children were playing and somebody came Out of a doorway and shouted: "For shame!
Look at the rubbish you've strewn about!
Gather it up and then all clear out!
What are you thinking of, tell me, pray?
Can't you have fun in a better way?"
Now I'm not the fellow to interfere,
But that was a lecture which sounded queer,
And I doubted the grown-up's right to say
Too much to the children concerning play,
For I'd heard of the rubbish left strewn about
When merrymaking that man went out.
Now there was a party the night before
And somebody sprawled on the parlor floor,
And some one carrying a glass fell down
Spilling the stuff on a lady's gown,
And a humorous playboy, large and fat
Jokingly ruined his comrade's hat.
Out in the yard lies a broken tree
Which a wavering driver failed to see,
But these are tales I'd never have told
If he hadn't come to his door to scold
And the children and I hadn't heard him says:
"Can't you have fun in a better way?"

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

I sit by the fire, making conversation with an old friend, and you are curled up in an easy chair across the room—your whole attention apparently given to a book, but one ear cocked to avoid missing anything.

"Last Thursday evening, at Bill's restaurant," I begin; but I get no farther.

"Wednesday evening, Daddy," you volunteer, smiling sweetly to show you aren't mad at me about it.

"Wednesday evening, then," I continue. "Anyway we sat at the second table from the door and——"

"The third table, Daddy," says you in your patient-mother tone of voice.

"Perhaps," I concede. "And in comes old Jake Snort with his daughter, Belle."

"It was Maud, Daddy," you remark in a tone of amused exasperation; and a perfectly good story has gone to the eternal bow-wows. I'm through trying.

Perhaps I exaggerate, but you are beginning to acquire the habit of setting the world right—and it's hard to make that habit seem worse than it is.

For the purpose of killing conversation and drying up the springs of good fellowship and inspiring a general urge to do physical violence, man has yet to invent a method more efficacious than that of breaking into the midst of innocent remarks with amended statistics.

Your are too old to spank and too nice to drown; but unless you choke that habit while it is young and tender, it will be necessary for me to take steps.

Seriously, Honey, it's awful. It irritates people to the point of madness and makes you about as welcome as an epidemic of measles.

Suppose people do tell things wrong. You aren't divinely appointed to set them right. It's their story, not yours. And it's seldom anything so vital as to justify a breach of good manners.

I know how you squirm and itch to expose your superior knowledge when people make mistakes. All normal people pass through a stage when they are greatly impressed by their own wisdom and long to share it with the world. And the simple ones never outgrow it.

But it is a useless crusade, dear. People always will make mistakes. If you should correct every one of them, no great good would result.

Please get this through your head, Honey. The mistakes are trivial; if you suffer in silence no harm will result; and if you horn in with corrections, the soothing effect on your vanity won't offset the harm done in hurting the vanity of others and making yourself seem an affliction. Love,

DAD.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ELMER TWITCHELL'S 1930 BUSINESS ANALYSIS.

Mr. Elmer Twitchell has joined in the national pastime of forcasting the business trend during the new year. "I didn't want to be the only man not to express an opinion," Elmer explained as he submitted the following analysis:

OIL INDUSTRY.

The main point to be considered in forecasting oil consumption is that the big oil companies are going to conduct a big campaign this year to put over bottled petroleum as a hair-restorer. More people lost more hair in the last three months of 1929 than was lost in any previous nine years in history. Figure it out for yourself.

STEEL, IRON, &C.

Don't worry about the steel outlook. If all those big business men who huddled with Hoover do one-tenth of what they promised to do while being photographed, the steel and iron mills will work overtime throughout the year. The steel trade is to be benefited from now on, too, by the fact that nearly all golfers have gone over from wooden to steel shafts.

If my campaign to have every citizen in the country buy one steel rail as a patriotic duty is adopted this will be another big boon, but I think the steel and iron industry will benefit mostly during 1930 by the drive to restore the iron mastiff, elk and dog to front lawns throughout America.

GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANIES.

When the gas and electric trades fail to do business in this country it will be time to jump off the dock. We are the gassiest nation on earth and we get gassier every year. There never has been a year in history when we have fallen behind in this respect. I'll bet you that the gas companies have tampered with the meters already and that everything has been fixed so it will cost twice as much to heat a tub of water during 1930. So far as electricity is concerned the outlook is grand. Man now does everything except shave by electricity and that will be attended to before midyear.

RAILROADS.

If there's anything I'd like to own in this country it's a good railroad. If you don't think they're doing business you should be unlucky enough to get a room in a hotel near a freight-yard.

MOTORS.

Every time I hear anybody crying over the automobile outlook in this picnicking country I have to giggle. The only fellow who should look at the 1930 automobile situation with a sad face is the pedestrian. He and the traffic cop. The motor magnates are going to abandon the goofy custom of trying to turn out six or eight cars to every citizen, but this will be all for the best as this will give the customer a chance to buy the car he likes and not the one he has been talked into. America is a nation whose people's favorite diversions are playing hare and hounds with motorcycle police, and driving 50 miles from home in order to enjoy a woodland luncheon of hot dogs and soda water.

COPPERS, CHEMICALS, &C.

I didn't have time to look into the situation in these lines, as I had an appointment for a golf lesson, but I feel safe in saying they'll all be at the same stand doing business.

Yours truly,
ELMER TWITCHELL.

Mr. David Sarnoff, just made president of the Radio Corporation of America, came to this country as an immigrant boy. That's what is meant in radio circles by getting distance.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Motor Car Killings in Wide Open Spaces—Recklessness Worse Than Traffic Congestion.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your resume of traffic statistics headed "Rural Motor Hazards" says:

"Since a large portion of traffic casualties involve pedestrians, it has been assumed that there was a definite relationship between density of population, volume of automobile registration and the death rate in motor accidents. The report does not show this to be the case."

On second thought this seeming anomaly substantiates my favorite traffic axiom that "the price of speed is death." That is, reckless, excessive speed, whatever that may be.

On crowded city streets the speed by autos is slow perforce. The gait of the pedestrian is slowed. Consequently unrecorded as well as recorded minor accidents and near accidents are frequent owing to the jam. The pedestrian may be and often is bumped, but he is not bumped off. Note the city's traffic fatalities from week to week and it will be found that most of them occur where there is little traffic—where reckless speeding seems safe to the pinhead.

A long, smooth stretch of rural road, with an easy curve ahead, and a careless, not to say reckless driver, make a combination that means death if the careless pedestrian happens by at the fit fraction of a second.

This is not so in the case of drivers who are philosophic enough to shrink from the risk of the tragedy of the unexpected. But all drivers are not philosophers, which accounts for the fact that an astonishing percentage of fatal and serious traffic accidents occur in the wide open spaces.

Schools Should Be the Last to Feel the Knife of Economy—Government Depends Upon Good Schools.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In the discussion of appropriations for the support of the public schools we are apt, under present conditions, to lose sight of their pedagogic needs.

Schoolhouses and other material equipment are necessary in the first place. Repairs from time to time and janitors must be provided for.

But if there is any item which should have consideration above the rest it is that relating to the teaching staff.

One teacher to a group of from 30 to 50 scholars is not enough. The nervous strain of attempting to teach that many boys and girls is very great.

When no teacher has to bother with more scholars than he or she can manage to the best advantage the possibility of an ideal American public school system will have arrived.

The unimpaired perpetuity of the American system of government depends on the American public school system. Appropriations for the schools should not be the first, but the last, to suffer from the knife of cheeseparing legislation. FEDERALIST.

Traffic Lights Should Be Installed at Thomas Circle.

To the Editor of The Post.—Sir: The traffic lights installed around Dupont Circle have proved very beneficial to both pedestrians and motorists. Another circle should be controlled by traffic lights—Thomas Circle, at Fourteenth and Massachusetts avenue. The circle at this point is the intersection of eight streets. When traffic is heavy motorists and pedestrians find progress very slow and dangerous. If lights were installed here on the same principle as the lights around Dupont Circle it would relieve the congestion which occurs every day during rush hours.

Besides motor traffic, there is also the traffic of the street cars. If lights should be installed around Thomas Circle, the street car company, motorists and pedestrians would all be benefited.

PEDESTRIAN.

Life Imprisonment Demanded for Fourth Offender Drunken Drivers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I agree with the correspondent in your letter column who urges "The segregation of the hard-boiled, strong-armed guy with the gat."

There is another class of homicidal offenders against law and order that I would like to add to the segregation. They are the automobile drunks. Whether they are or not on the increase is anybody's guess. But under the Connecticut drivers' license system, it is stated, "the drunken drivers who were apprehended spent 75 years in jail during 1928." A license system should be in operation everywhere with provision for life imprisonment after four or less convictions of men who drive automobiles when drunk. They are murderers. J. P. HAYES.

THE MARSHALL STATUE.

Nearly a century has elapsed since the death of John Marshall, the great interpreter of the Constitution, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger, and in that period this city, the scene of his labors as head of the Supreme Court of the United States, has been without a suitable memorial. The dedication of the statue, which has been erected through private means at the Art Museum on the parkway, will serve to remind those who see it of the debt the nation owes to one of its greatest jurists.

It was Chief Justice Marshall who, in the face of bitter political hostility, upheld the principle of nationality and made the Constitution the bulwark it has become against separatism and nullification. Among the last of the Federalists, John Marshall, by his force and sincerity, dominated the Supreme bench for many years and accomplished by his interpretation of the provisions of the Constitution what his party failed to gain by the ballot. The bench and bar of America have already recognized the inestimable value and importance of Marshall's labors in upholding the principle of the Union and this memorial is the personal tribute of a lawyer who has been foremost in his defense of the Constitution against modern encroachments.

BRITISH FORCES JOIN ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Minister Says Finance Is to Stand Behind Industry for First Time.

SPEAKS AT MANCHESTER

Manchester, England, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—The British Labor government has sponsored a concerted effort for the rehabilitation of British economic life and for the solution of the unemployment problem.

J. H. Thomas, lord privy seal and minister of employment, declared that "for the first time the whole forces of British finance are prepared to stand behind British industry" in an important speech before the Manchester Chamber of Commerce this afternoon.

The Labor government has been spurred on to action by an increase in the figures of the unemployed, which have risen nearly 500,000 since the MacDonald ministry came into office.

Credits Pushed to Limit.

Mr. Thomas said that in his investigation of the unemployment and industrial problems he has found a feeling among manufacturers that they were handicapped in the necessary reorganization and reequipment of their production plants "by the fact that the long continued trade depression has pushed to the limits the credit which they can reasonably expect to obtain from their bankers, or which the bankers can reasonably be expected to provide.

Mr. Thomas added that an industry proposing a scheme for modernizing and reorganizing in order to compete with world prices "will receive most sympathetic consideration and cooperation from the city in working out plans and finding necessary finances."

"In cases of individual undertakings, the city will be similarly ready to help, provided the scheme under discussion fits in as part of the general plans for the industry in question as a whole and gives reasonable promise that the changes will enable the undertaking to become an effective unit in combination and cooperation with similar undertakings."

Forces Are Mobilized.

Mr. Thomas declared that his statement was made with the authority and the knowledge of the city.

"It is made deliberately to this gathering of business men, and through this gathering to the business community as a whole. It means that for the first time on behalf of the city an open invitation has been given to business and industry to come forward with real schemes of organization.

"In short, for the first time the whole forces of British finance are mobilized for industry. Are you going to miss this opportunity of making a real big effort for a forward march?

Would Bar Politics.

"I propose following it up by inviting a number of our leading industrialists to join with me in a great effort to get free from party politics and class prejudice, with the single-minded desire to make the nation's industries of paramount importance."

After describing the salient points of the present position of British industry and its needs, Mr. Thomas said that it was necessary for industry and finance to come toegther.

"I am in a position to state that the city (the financial district of London) is deeply interested in placing industry upon a broad, sound basis and is ready to support any plans that in its opinion lead to this end.

"Those in the city who have been studying this matter are convinced that a number of our important industries might be fundamentally reorganized and modernized in order to produce at prices that will enable them to compete with the world.

"For the first time the whole forces of British finance are prepared to stand behind British industry."

Judge Disclaims Slandering Race

Clayton Says Address Not Blanket Accusation Against Jews.

Resenting and repudiating the suggestion that he had slandered the Jewish race in his address at Adas Israel Synagogue, two weeks ago, Municipal Judge Nathan Cayton has replied to Bernard G. Richards, executive director of the American Jewish Congress, a letter in which he states that it is difficult for him to understand how such an inference could have been drawn from the remarks he made.

"My address was not intended to, and was not in any sense a blanket accusation against my people, and this must have been apparent to any one who knows me or heard my address," stated Judge Cayton.

"It was only intended to direct attention to the growing numbers of those of our people who have wandered into the fields of crime, where they were so rarely found in the past," concluded the judge.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

WITHOUT a doubt, those Senate Progressives are the most ill-mannered boys in the neighborhood. You try to be nice to them, invite them to your home, and they come in with stomping feet and without taking the trouble to shake the mud from their shoes.

The way they are bullying the Regulars is a caution. For some time, these Regulars who used to be pretty rough themselves until the Progressives tamed them, have been begging the Middle Westerners to come to their parties.

"We frequently have little party caucuses," the Regulars have repeatedly said. "Why don't you come to them?"

* * * *

IT was only a few days ago, in fact, that such a politically unsociable fellow as Senator Moses asked the Progressives to come to the Regulars' parties.

"I do not recall ever having seen Senator Borah at a party conference," he said, "or Senator La Follette either." The senator's observation was apropos the Progressives' complaint that the Regulars always mistreated them.

Well, the Progressives decided they would go to the party yesterday. They went to it and broke it up.

RUTHLESS, rowdy, with no feeling of appreciation for their host, they went running in trying to grab up all the candy and ice cream in sight.

It seems that the regulars had arranged a little game, something about grabbing a place on the interstate commerce committee. Well sir, the Progressives, who by now had already grabbed everything else, tried to grab this place, too.

The regulars were no match for them. They sat around utterly unable to join in the play. It was too rough. With shoes and stockings on, shiny buckles on their pants and with their hair combed, they just stood around with their thumbs in their mouths.

In the meantime, the Progressives, with no bringing up at all, romped all over the place. They not only wanted to monopolize the games, but to dominate the conversation as well. Senator Norris insisted upon reciting his favorite piece, "The Inquities of the Old Guard."

When the Progressives definitely refused to play any of the milder Eastern games, the party broke up. It was the first caucus they had attended in many months, and it ended in a fight.

Those fellows—they are like wives. You can't live with them and you can't live without them. It looks like eternal strife.

SCHOOLS HEAD LIST OF TAX EXPENDITURE

System Receives More Than Third of Every District Dollar Spent.

PROTECTION IS SECOND

The District government spent more for its public education system in the last five years than for any other division of municipal activities, according to figures made public yesterday by Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor.

Including the gasoline tax, which is a special tax levied for a special purpose, the public school system received 33.3 per cent of each municipal dollar, exclusive of trust and special funds, such as the water department revenues, which department, under the law, must be self-sustaining, according to Donovan's chart. Excluding the gasoline tax from the total, schools got 34.3 per cent of the total expenditures, Maj. Donovan said.

Total expenditures for the last five fiscal years, ending with June 30 last were $166,963,104. Year by year expenditures were as follows: 1925, $29,654,607; 1926, $31,001,122; 1927, $34,125,037; 1928, $35,663,060; 1929, $36,519,278.

Division of Dollar Given.

The division of the municipal dollar was set forth in percentages by Maj. Donovan as follows: Schools, 33.3 per cent; protection of life and property—Police and Fire Departments, 16.7 per cent; highways, 12 per cent; public welfare, 11.9 per cent; recreation, 6.4 per cent; general government, 5.7 per cent; public service enterprises, 4.3 per cent; miscellaneous, .4 per cent, and interest and debt, .2 per cent.

The percentages for various activities in the last fiscal year were given as follows: Health department, .9 per cent; sewers, 4.2; street cleaning, 1.7; city refuse, 2.8; miscellaneous, .1, a total for health and sanitation last year of 9.4 per cent.

The division of expenditures for highways was set forth as follows: Improvements, 8.1 per cent; maintenance, 5.1; bridges, 1; street lighting, 2.5; street trees, .4, a total of 14.1 per cent for highways.

Education Expenditures.

Expenditures for education were given as the following percentages: Schools, 33.2; special education, .1; libraries, .9, a total of 34.2 per cent.

Other percentages were given for the last fiscal year, the largest in the District's history, as follows: Public Welfare, municipal institutions, 4.7; private institutions, 2.3; support of insane, 4.3; prisons and reformatories, 2.6; a total of 13.9 for public welfare; recreation, parks, 5.9 and playgrounds, .5, a total of 6.4 for recreation; public service enterprises, markets, .2; water supply, .3, and miscellaneous, .1, a total of .6 per cent; Police Department, 8.4 per cent; Fire Department, 5.6 per cent; miscellaneous life and property protection, 1.5; a total of 15.5 per cent for this purpose; and general government, salaries, 2.9; courts, 1.9, and miscellaneous, .6, a total of 5.4 per cent.

LABOR TO PROTECT RAILWAY WORKERS

Federation to Safeguard All Members Affected by Proposed Merger.

FIELD WORK DESCRIBED

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Possible unemployment in the ranks of 1,600,000 transportation workers if proposed railway consolidation plans are carried out came before the executive council of the American Federation of Labor today.

The council, which is in annual session here, also approved a report on organization work accomplished in Southern cities since the convention.

President William Green of the federation said that labor will seek protection of contractual relations between railroads and employes, which might be jeopardized in the possible merger of large railway systems.

Mr. Green said that if legislation is necessary to consolidation plans, organized labor will oppose any move that does not fully protect the human element.

It was said that the possible removal of terminal points at various centers in the country is considered one of the biggest problems.

A report on organization steps in Southern cities since the Toronto convention showed that more than 50 trained organizers have been sent into the field. The report said that other organizers will be employed, and that a systematic campaign, to cover a year or more, will be launched.

No more business sessions will be held until Monday.

U. S. Cutters Seek Lone Man Adrift

Coast Combed From Norfolk to Hatteras for Lost Skiff Reported.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Three Coast Guard cutters and the entire Coast Guard unit, ashore and afloat, from Norfolk to Hatteras, are searching for a lone man, reported to be adrift in the Atlantic in a skiff off Frying Pan shoals, North Carolina.

Coast Guard headquarters at Norfolk was notified today by wireless from the American steamer Commercial Guide, that she had passed a small fishing smack at the Frying Pan gas and whistle buoy, and that the latter craft reported the loss of one man and a skiff last night. The steamer reported that she made a search for the missing boat, and its lone occupant but found no trace of either and was proceeding southeastward.

Coast Guard headquarters here immediately ordered the cutters Modoc, from Wilmington, and the Manning and Mascoutin from the Norfolk station to take up the search. Coast Guard stations all along the coast also were directed to keep a lookout for the missing skiff and its occupant.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS MARKS ANNIVERSARY

Celebrates Tenth Birthday in Calling Attention to Achievements.

MEMBERS NUMBER 54

Geneva, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Celebrating today its tenth legal birthday, the League of Nations, through its officials, reviewed the milestones which marked its course since it was born, January 10, 1919. The league was born with 24 members, there are now 54.

In counting the achievements of the league's first decade, authorities at the secretariat regarded the following as significant and progressive steps, year by year:

1920. The assembly of the league decided to meet annually, thus recording a notable stage in the evolution of international conference.

1921. The league determined the frontiers of Albania, establishing an important precedent and averting a serious Balkan dispute.

1922. In reconstructing the finances of Austria, the league rescued a sovereign state from collapse.

1923. Nearly 1,500,000 Greek refugees were assisted to establish themselves in Macedonia. League advocates regarded this as a piece of social reconstruction perhaps not equalled in previous world history.

1924. Attendance of two prime ministers of great powers, MacDonald and Herriot, at the assembly advanced this body's use and prestige as a meeting place of world statesmen.

1925. The league acted to put a stop to hostilities between Greece and Bulgaria, preventing another Balkan crisis and improving its own technique for effecting peaceable adjustment of disputes.

1926. Germany was admitted to league membership; thus the league became more than a conference of victorious powers.

1927. The international economic conference of this year started the movement toward freer trade and the scientific approach to commercial and economic questions.

1928. The league employed its good offices in intervening in the dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay, cooperating with other agencies to bring this trouble to a happy conclusion.

1929. The principle of compulsory arbitration for settlement of differences between nations gained strength through the adhesion of almost a score of nations to the "optional clause" of the permanent international court of justice.

La Follette Raps Law Body Attack

Editorial by Senator Asks Free Hand for Hoover Crime Commission.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Robert M. La Follette, jr., of Wisconsin, a member of the Republican independents aligned against the administration group in the Senate, contributed to yesterday's prohibition discussion a demand that President Hoover's law enforcement commission be given a free hand and permitted to make its study without outside interference.

His views were contained in an editorial made public by him, which will appear in The Progressive, a magazine.

"The violent outcry over the enforcement of prohibition and the torrent of criticism and abuse of the President's commission on law enforcement," he wrote, "are not conducive to the careful, patient, scientific research which the country has a right to expect and demand of that tribunal.

"That a deliberate effort is being made to hamstring the commission and discredit its work is the only fair conclusion to be drawn from the untimely, bitter attacks now being made upon it in advance of its report. Reason and justice demand that while it is conducting its far-reaching investigation, the commission should be accorded the respect and consideration and granted the time which an intelligent study of the important problem delegated to it calls for."

Use of German Officers In Chinese Army Denied

Berlin, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Assertions in Shanghai that the German government had loaned army officers as military advisers to President Chiang Kai-Shek of the Nationalist government and that Germany was shipping large quantities of war materials to China were authoritatively denied in Berlin today.

The Shanghai reports reached the authorities by way of London. Any Germans serving in the armies of China were declared to be freelances for whom the government is not responsible. It was added that though German vessels may have carried war material to China, they carried none of German manufacture.

OFFICIAL FETES END FOR ROYAL COUPLE

RAIN DAMPENS PARADE

Rome, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—The Prince and Princess of Piedmont rounded out six days of festivities for their marriage at a gala performance in the Rome Opera tonight. The performance was attended by nearly all the visiting royalties and princes and princesses. It began at 8:15 p. m., earlier than usual, presumably to allow the bridal couple to escape in a royal train or automobile to the hunting lodge of San Rossore, near Pisa.

Humbert and Marie Jose kept the actual hour of departure to themselves.

Rain fell today for the first time since the arrival of the princess on Sunday, and put a damper on a parade held by the municipal authorities in front of the Quirinal this afternoon.

Before the rain started Italian army aviators staged a great show in the sky. Minister of Aviation Balbo took up the Swedish Prince William for a flight during the maneuvers. The airplanes describe the letters of the word "Italia" in trailing smoke, and then formed the monogram "U. M." for Crown Prince Humbert (Umberto) and Princess Marie Jose.

The morning was devoted to a picturesque concert by thousands of school children at the Villa Umberto Primo.

The prince and the princess will really begin their honeymoon when they leave for San Rossore, escaping the burden of official ceremony that has hung over them like a pall since their wedding on Wednesday. From San Rossore they later will go to Turin, official residence of the prince, and receive the city's official welcome.

COMMITTEE FIGHT UPSETS HARMONY

McNary who finally worked out the complex organization program which composed the sharp differences among the independents, the "young guard" and the old guard.

The present program places Senator La Follette on the finance committee, and also gives another member from the Northwest representation on this committee—Senator Thomas, of Idaho, a member of the "young guard."

After Senator McMaster protested yesterday, Senator Howell, of Nebraska, another of the Western independents, moved that the new Republican committee assignments be referred back to the committee on committees with instruction to place Senator McMaster on the interstate commerce committee.

Old Guard Resentful.

The Old Guard regulars, who were not pleased by the appointments to the finance committee of La Follette and Thomas, immediately voiced their resentment. There followed a general discussion of whether seniority, geographical location or politics was to be followed in making the committee assignments.

Senator Phipps, of Colorado, one of the Old Guard, countered with a motion to refer all the committee assignments back for reconsideration with instructions that only the rule of seniority be followed. This, it was argued, would place Senators Metcalf, Rhode Island, and Goff, West Virginia, in line for the finance committee ahead of La Follette and Thomas.

Then Senator Fess, of Ohio, became aroused. He called attention that if Senator Goff was going to be allowed to have three major committee assignments, including finance and foreign relations, he would demand the same. He asserted that he outranked Goff.

An adjournment was taken about that time, and after some of the party veterans had talked over the situation there was a general feeling that the new organization program would be put through today as it stands.

Senator McNary succeeds Senator Jones, of Washington, as assistant party leader. Senator Jones resigned when the chairmanship of the busy appropriations committee came to him.

The aged prelate, dean in years of the Catholic Church Episcopacy in the United States, and for 26 years head of the Milwaukee diocese, entered a sanitarium operated by Franciscan sisters here two weeks ago, when a chronic malady recurred while he was resting on the shores of Lake Ponchartrain, in southeast Louisiana. Late yesterday he was reported to have contracted a cold and to be threatened with pneumonia.

His age, 82 years, made his condition serious, his physicians announced. He is the oldest Catholic archbishop in the United States.

PEN WOMEN HEAR PICTURE MAGNATE

FUNCTION AT PRESS CLUB

Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., was the guest of honor yesterday afternoon at the second of a series of old English coffee house talks given by the League of American Pen Women of the District of Columbia. The affair, held in the auditorium of the National Press Club, attracted more than 500 persons, including many prominent in the political, social and civic life of the Capital.

"The Birth of Sound" was the subject of Mr. Warner's remarks to the Pen Women and their guests, but in reality his address traced the trials and tribulations of motion-picture concerns from 1903 to the present date. From a situation wherein he was ashamed to belong to the industry ten years ago, Mr. Warner said that the motion-picture field has developed through the use of sound until it ranks as one of the most important features of every day life.

In describing the Warner Brothers' venture into sound films, that firm having been the first to attempt such a presentation in 1926, the president of the firm declared that only the possibilities of music on the screen had given him and his brothers the courage to go ahead with their plans for sound films. "Music appeals to every one" said Mr. Warner. "For that reason we knew that if we could reproduce good music with pictures we had the ingredients of instant success."

Albert B. Howson, head of the scenario department of the Warner Brothers Co., was another speaker. He described the effect of the use of perfect English from the screen on the masses of America and predicted that talking pictures would eventually eliminate all dialects.

Mrs. William Wolff Smith was chairman of the meeting, introducing Mr. Warner and Mr. Howson, while Mrs. E. Richard Gasch, president of the league, was given a silver coffee service to be used at all future coffee house meetings of the league.

Before and during the program Daniel Breeskin, of the Earle Theater, directed an orchestra of 28 pieces with two vocal soloists in a series of numbers taken from recent Warner Brothers talking pictures. This feature was presented by the Stanley-Crandall theaters as a tribute to Mr. Warner, whose organization controls the local houses.

Yeggs Are Trailed In Postal Thefts

Two Postoffices in Nearby Maryland Are Robbed Within Week.

Police of two Maryland Counties, aided by Washington detectives, were searching yesterday for a gang of yeggmen who blew open safes in the Riverdale postoffice and the Gaithersburg postoffice during the past week.

The Gaithersburg robbery occurred Thursday night. The safe was blown open with explosives and a quantity of registered packages, stamps and cash were taken. Entry was gained by jimmying a lock on a door and then releasing an iron bar. Heavy mail sacks were used to muffle the explosion. However, the residents of the community said that they heard an explosion during the night.

The safe of the Riverdale postoffice was blown open Wednesday night, and the contents stolen. The similarity of methods used in the two robberies have prompted police to believe that both depredations were perpetrated by the same gang. Montgomery County police are being assisted in investigation of the robberies by detectives from the Washington bureau.

Judge Gordon Performs First Wedding Ceremony

Justice Peyton Gordon yesterday performed his first marriage ceremony when he united Stanley J. Glaser, 24 years old, of Washington, and Miss Hallie Gott, 19 years old, of Rockville, Md. The ceremony was performed in the justice's chamber and at its conclusion he extended congratulations and good wishes.

The ceremony was belated, it was understood. The license to marry was obtained November 8 last, but was not used until yesterday. The delay, it was said, was because of religious differences, which were settled when the couple decided to have a civil instead of a religious ceremony.

CAPITAL MAN HELD IN ANTIQUES ROW

TWO CHAIRS INVOLVED

New York, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Alfred Thonet, jr., of the Logan Hotel, Washington, D. C., was held in $5,000 bail by a magistrate today on the complaint of Mrs. Margaret Thors, of New York, that he failed to deliver two antique chairs she purchased and refused to return her money. He was charged with grand larceny.

Mrs. Thors said she bought eight pieces of antique furniture from Thonet for $2,113 last June, to be delivered at her apartment on her return from her honeymoon. When the furniture was delivered, she said, two chairs were not the ones she ordered. She said Thonet refused to pay back $260 she had given him for the chairs.

Thonet will have a hearing Monday.

Thonet yesterday filed a suit for $5,000,000 damages against Thonet Bros., Inc., Thonet Warner, Inc., and several individuals, charging they had driven him out of a company his father founded in 1888 and were attempting to drive him out of business entirely by forcing wholesale antique dealers to sue him for accounts and by getting customers to sue him on false allegations that he was defrauding them.

Boy, 2, Dies of Burns Received From Stove

James Welch, 2 years old, of Waldorf, Md., died at Casualty Hospital yesterday afternoon from burns received at his home on December 29.

The child had playfully opened the door of a stove when his clothes were ignited and he was severely burned before his cries brought his parents to the scene. He has been lingering between life and death ever since. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Welch.

Two More Lots Bought For Municipal Center

Purchase of two additional lots for the municipal center was approved yesterday by the District Commissioners. One was bought from the R. Marbury Stamp Co. for $22,260, and the other from William T. McCarthy for $17,150.

The purchases were recommended by Maj. L. E. Atkins, Assistant Engineer Commissioner and chairman of the municipal center purchasing committee.

ARIAS OF 'DON JUAN' CAPTURE AUDIENCE

SONGS ARE IN GERMAN

Mozart replaced Wagner as the composer at the third of the series of grand operas by the German Grand Opera Company at Poli's Theater last night when "Don Juan" was presented to an appreciative audience eager to hear the favorite arias of the opera.

"Don Juan" has seldom been heard here and was therefore all the more welcomed. Its dainty, graceful motifs, typically Mozartesque, provided another vehicle of operatic triumph for the singers from overseas, who sang the opera in their native German instead of the Spanish in which the libretto was written originally by Lorenzo da Ponte.

"Don Juan" looms large in the musical heavens this year because of its revival by the Metropolitan Opera Company. Last night's company brought its many beauties into the foreground and made it a musical treat.

Donna Anna, the role made famous by great operatic stars, was well handled by Marguerite Baumer, who was heard for the first time in Washington. Fraulein Baumer has a dramatic soprano of rare beauty, capable of many shades of tone expression, and she sings with artistic finish. In her arias her voice was shown to full advantage.

Other Singers Stand Out.

She was ably seconded by the other feminine singers. Edna Zahm, as Donna Elvira, possessed a truly beautiful voice, and Milo Miloradovich won praise for her work in the role of Zerline, particularly in the well-known duet, "Thy Little Hand Love."

In the trios and quartets with which the opera is profuse Milo. Miloradovich also captured her share of the applause.

As Don Juan, Franz Egenieff was a swashbuckling hero, romantic in action and melodious, it seemed, by nature. His big aria, "Open Thy Window," was excellently sung, and at all times his lovely mellow tenor was outstanding. Carl Braun as Leporello captured laurels of his own, particularly in his singing of the renowned catalogo song, "The Fair One," in which Marcel Journet, the noted basso, made much of his reputation. Another masculine singer, Josef Lengyel, as Don Ottavio, the betrothed of Donna Anna, was a pleasing feature of the performance. His chief aria, "To My Beloved," was sung in a manner worthy of John McCormack, who has been heard often in this song at concerts.

Chorus Is Heard.

Masetto was well taken by Hans E. Hey, and Dudley Marwick as Daland was also kindly received.

For the first time in the presentations this season a chorus appeared on the stage. The ensemble tone was splendid, and that they were trained singers was most apparent. They leaned, however, more to svoirdupois than is customary in American operatic choruses and were a husky group of young singers whose voices were sweet and ample as well.

Again the orchestra was conducted by Ernest Knoch, who has performed a feat in leadership this week. It was soon demonstrated that Herr Knoch is as conversant with Mozart as Wagner. All the dainty beauties of the orchestral score were stressed, especially when the minuet theme occurred several times.

There will be no performance of the German Grand Opera Company today. The final presentation will be "The Flying Dutchman," on Tuesday afternoon, with Richard Gross, Dudley Marwick, Karl Jorn, Margarethe Baumer, Helena Lanvin and Alexander Larsen taking the principal parts.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

TWO notable events are included among the announcements of the screen entertainment becoming available to Washington picture lovers today. One is the presentation of John Barrymore in his first all-talking vehicle, at the Metropolitan; the other, the similar debut of Norma Talmadge, at the Palace.

In "General Crack," Barrymore is said to have as satisfactory a medium for the exploitation of his extraordinary talent as a reader of lines as he had, say, in "Don Juan" for the accentuation of his flair for romance. It is to be hoped that the picture will prove as worthy of its brilliant cast as it was made to seem by Hobart Bosworth in his polished foreword in the screen trailer that has preceded the arrival of the production itself.

Miss Talmadge's first appearance as a speaking star will be eagerly attended by that vast army of fans which for so many years hailed her as foremost of the emotional luminaries of silent drama. "New York Nights," a camera version of the stage play, "Tin Pan Alley," may or may not be the most propitious subject that might have been selected for this notable introduction to a new medium of expression, but however that may be, I am told that Norma Talmadge is superbly beautiful in every scene.

We shall see what we shall see—or maybe hear is what I mean.

Speaking of "General Crack," "Don Juan" and the like, I note that in the cast with John Barrymore is that most precocious of all juvenile actors, Master Philippe de Lacy, who was with him also in "Don Juan," playing the childhood part that eventually grew into Mr. Barrymore himself.

Harry M. Warner, president of Warner Brothers Pictures, leaves the Capital this morning after a busy 36-hour visit. Mr. Warner arrived in the Capital Thursday evening, and yesterday afternoon at 4:30 addressed the D. C. Chapter of the League of American Pen Women and their guests on the subject of "The Birth of Sound," at one of their "Coffee House Talks" in the Auditorium of the National Press Club.

Prior to the Pen Women's function, Mr. Warner was a visitor at National Park Seminary, where his daughter, Doris, is in attendance. National Park, by the way, is apparently the favorite institution of learning of the film industry, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Crandall, Mr. and Mrs. Moe Mark, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Holt all having been enrolled at Forest Glen at one time or another.

Al Evans, former master of ceremonies at the Palace, who last night completed a brief return engagement in the same capacity with the Loew "Oddities" unit, and whom you must have passed right out there in the hall as he left my office just now, is to complete his tour with "Oddities" before assuming new duties in the home office of Loew's, Inc., as supervisor of all stage band units.

Mr. Evans was chosen from among the fifteen Loew m. c.'s for the new post not only because he is an efficient master of ceremonies, but also because he is so thoroughly schooled in music that he can revise a complete score for orchestra, if necessary, and has a happy faculty of handling men and eliciting wholehearted cooperation from those with whom he is associated.

More steam to him!

A representative of one of New York's "art theater" movements has been in Washington the last few days quietly surveying the town with a view to finding a local outlet for such so-called "class audience" pictures as formerly found their way to the screen of the Little Theater from time to time.

He had a lot of luck—but most of it, I am afraid, was bad.

Managing Director Andy Sharick, of the Rialto Theater, a week from today will launch a series of special performances for juvenile audiences to be presented in conjunction with the "Knighthood of Youth" department of the Junior Post section of The Washington Sunday Post.

Mr. Sharick has had wide experience in this branch of theater work as a high official of the Boy Scouts in New York State and has tentative plans to assemble bills that will appeal no less to the juvenile audience as fine entertainment than to the parents as thoroughly salutary programs for their children to enjoy.

You'd be surprised how much more I will have to say of this later.

Reverting to the Palace for a moment, a week from today it will be Wesley Eddy.

A thought: Variety is the spice of life!

$150,000,000 Bond Issue Announced

J. P. Morgan Company Will Handle New Financing for Telephone Firm.

New York, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—A syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. was formed tonight to offer on Monday a $150,000,000 issue of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. 35-year 5 per cent debenture bonds at 99½.

Proceeds of the issue, which is the largest piece of financing ever offered by the utility through a banking group, will be used for corporate purposes. Expenditures of the Bell System this year are estimated at $700,000,000.

Wall street had rather expected that the company would seek funds through an issue of stock early in 1930, but the decision to float a loan at this time was believed to indicate that such an operation had been postponed. However, bankers still assumed that later in the year the corporation would make one of its biennial offerings of share rights to stockholders. Such issues have usually appeared early in the summer.

The last bond financing by American Telephone was a $219,000,000 issue of 4½ per cent convertibles, sold last spring to stockholders on a rights basis. These debentures became exchangeable for stock on January 1.

Island Shaken by Temblor.

St. Helier, Jersey, Channel Islands, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—A sharp earthquake was felt in Jersey Island last night. There was no damage reported.

Eielson Search Is Again Tied Up

Bad Weather Continues to Keep Rescue Planes Earth-Bound.

Fairbanks, Alaska, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Search for five fliers missing in the Far North again was interrupted by unfavorable weather today. Visibility was bad and planes brought to Alaska to search for Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, missing since November 9 last, were earthbound. Dog team drivers, who have been searching for Capt. Pat Reid, Jim Hutchinson and William Hughes in the vicinity of St. Michael, had not reported today.

At the trading ship Nanuk, frozen in the ice off North Cape, Siberia, it was said the weather was clearing and that Pilot Joe Crosson was preparing to search over territory previously covered by dog team for any trace of Eielson and Borland or their plane.

Crosson intended to fly over a district about 25 miles south of the Nanuk where one native reported having seen the plane and another said he heard it.

The GREAT American War Novel!

GOD HAVE MERCY ON US!

BY WILLIAM T. SCANLON

AMERICAN LEGION $12,500 PRIZE NOVEL

This is the greatest story yet written about the American enlisted men in the war! It is an epic narrative of six months from Belleau Woods to the Armistice! There is no gold lace or glory in this tale of fighting men as told by a sergeant of marines.

It is war with the pretty gilt stripped off. It is war of muddy trenches, death-filled woods, soul-gripping barrages, battles fought hand-to-hand and eye-to-eye. Heroic living—heroic death—and all done as part of a day's work!

If you were in the war you will have a chance to live again your own experiences. If your brother or husband was in it, read this story to find out some of the things he has never mentioned to you!

Wall Street Activities on Air Tonight

Description of Stock Exchange in Business World Program at 8. Ballet Music at 9—News Brevities on WOL.

A description of Wall street and the Stock Exchange activities, together with a full explanation of the meaning of the various financial terms, is scheduled to be heard in the New Business World program, through WRC and a National Broadcasting Company network, at 8 o'clock tonight.

Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, and Merryle Stanley Rukeyser, associate editor, will be heard in the broadcast, which lasts half an hour. The program was arranged, according to Thorpe, in order that listeners might learn of "the world's greatest market place, which is probably the least understood of any business institution. It has a language of its own, which is spoken by many but understood by few," he said.

The ballet music from "The Eternal Light," a new opera by Robert Braine, the American composer, whose "S. O. S." created a sensation when recently presented to the radio audience by Walter Damrosch and his orchestra, will have its premiere under the baton of the same conductor during the General Electric Hour to be heard at 9 o'clock over Station WRC. The suite is in four movements—"Oriental Dance," "Valse," "The Dance of Els Cosiers" and "The Dance of the Flower Girl." "The Eternal Light" is a new and metaphysical treatment of the ancient legend of "The Wandering Jew," Mr. Damrosch explains, "and the libretto was written by the eminent English author, E. Temple Thurston. As a play it enjoyed a two-year run in London and was also successfully produced in America." Other details of the program follow:

Prelude to "Lohengrin," act III, Wagner; Air on the "G" String, and Gavotte in "E" for Strings, Bach, and the "Largo" from "From the New World Symphony," Dvorak.

Von Suppe's "Poet and Peasant" overture and Gabriel-Marie's "Dream Picture" frame a program of varied concert selections which Ludwig Laurier and a string ensemble will play during the slumber music over WRC at 11 o'clock. Other numbers are "Dream After the Ball," Czibulka; the Intermezzo from "Jewels of the Madonna," Wolf-Ferrari; "Moorish Serenade," Chapi; "Pomone," Waldteufel; and "Approach of Night," Trinkhaus.

Lighter entertainment arranged for this evening on WRC will be found during the program at 8:30 o'clock, devoted to popular numbers, with B. A. Rolfe and his Lucky Strike orchestra at 10 o'clock, and the hour of dance music by Rudy Vallee, from midnight until 1 o'clock.

The "Nit Wit Hour" will be heard at 9 o'clock from Station WMAL. On this occasion the Nit Wit Dramatic Society will present a burlesque on the "Count of Monte Cristo."

The usual type of entertainment will be heard in the Paramount-Publix hour, at 10 o'clock, followed by an hour of dance music. Mlle. Eliena Kazanova, Russian violinist, will be featured as the guest of honor in the "Around the Samovar" hour at 9:30 o'clock.

Brother Jenkins, in real life Taylor Gordon, will again be featured in the "Dixie Echoes" program at 8:30 o'clock. His selection is "The Crucifixion." Other spirituals are "De Angels in Heab'n Done Write My Name," "Death is Gwineter Lay His Cold Icy Hands On Me," "Nobody Knows de Trouble I See," "Dere's No Hidin' Place Down There," and "My Ship is on de Ocean."

Cornell alumni all over the country will observe founders' day today. A special Cornell broadcast has been arranged for Station WHAM at Rochester from 8:30 to 9 o'clock tonight, so that Cornell listeners within the radius of this station may receive greetings from the university and a program of typical Cornell music. WHAM operates on a frequency of 1,150 kilocycles, and will be found on the dial near Station WCAU, Philadelphia.

A radio musical revue will be broadcast to Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his Antarctic expedition at 11 o'clock tonight from WGR, Buffalo, and WGY, Schenectady. This program will be transmitted to the South Pole through the short wave station at Schenectady.

"Breakfast Brevities" from The Washington Post will be transmitted via WOL at 8:15 o'clock this morning. There will be a speaker from the D. C. Chapter of the American Red Cross at 10 o'clock this morning.

Walter Holt's mandolin and guitar ensemble will be presented at 6 o'clock. Dinner music and the Silver String Revelers are other attractions through the station.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

A FAMILIAR voice came in over the radio when Calvin Coolidge, the hustling life insurance agent, made his debut on commercial time Tuesday night. Mr. Coolidge spoke in Florida at a meeting of executives of the insurance company of which he is a director. His speech was sugar-coated and sounded like one of his usual presidential addresses until the last seven minutes when the radio audience was given the insurance sales talk as painlessly as possible. Mr. Coolidge not overlooking the opportunity to put in a special boost for the company with which he is now connected.

Not only was it the first time Mr. Coolidge ever was heard during a commercial (i.e., paid) period, but the first instance any former President has ever been heard over the radio under commercial auspices. There were 35 stations in the coast-to-coast hookup, and the estimated cost to the insurance company for broadcasting the 30-minute speech of Mr. Coolidge was between $3,500 and $4,000.

ALTHOUGH the radio audience has not been let in on the secret, "Amos 'n' Andy," who in their skit supposedly are in New York, have been doing their broadcasting from Boston for the past three nights. In fact, the only time they ever have broadcast from New York in the present series was during the first three days of this week.

For the most part the broadcasts originate in Station WMAQ, in Chicago, but the boys are on a vaudeville tour, going first to New York, then to Boston, where they will be during the next week, and then back to New York and Chicago. All without missing their two regular nightly performances on the air at 7 p. m. on Eastern stations and 11:30 (our time) on the Middle Western network.

BECAUSE of the stiff opposition encountered with the R. C. A.-Victor Hour, the new Philco hour, the beginning of the expenditure of $1,000,000 on their 1930 program, which may include the Philadelphia Orchestra, was handicapped in its first presentation in the Capital. Both programs being at the same time, the Victor on WRC and Philco on WMAL, but the former lasted a full hour to the latter's 30 minutes.

The first disappointment in Philco was the singing of "Memories" by the young lady taking the place of Jessica Dragonette, who now adorns the Cities Service hour. Also there was too much conversation on the part of Henry M. Neely, the "Old Stager." At times it sounded more like a monologue by Neely, with music, than a tabloid opera presentation.

In the meantime, under expert conductorship, first of Rosario Bourdon and then Nat Shilkret, the Victor people had gotten under way with a smashing presentation of excerpts from "Fifty Years of Light Opera." Not only were the orchestra and voices ahead of Philco, but as pleasing as was Jerome Kern's "Lamplight" on Philco, it was as compared to an arc light in opposition to sure-fire hits of yesterday from the "Merry Widow," "Prince of Pilsen," "Chimes of Normandy," "Floradora" and others. True, these selections are heard time and again, but not the way Messrs. Shilkret, Bourdon and their company put the old songs over the plate Thursday night.

SENATOR SMITH W. BROOKHART, at a hearing of the Senate interstate commerce committee yesterday morning, said he intended offering an amendment which, if accepted, would revoke the licenses of all broadcasting stations operated by public utility interests. This amendment, if put into effect, would delete several of the largest stations in the country, including WBAL, Baltimore; WFBM, Indianapolis; WEEI, Boston, and WENR, Chicago.

Senator Brookhart added that labor ought to have a cleared channel.

SENATOR DILL told Judge Ira E. Robinson, chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, a witness at the Senate hearing, that since the Radio Commission had not acted in the case of W. K. ("Hello, World—Dog-gone you!") Henderson, operator of Station KWKH, at Shreveport, La., in the face of the complaints which have been made to the commission and Congress about the language and programs of this broadcaster, the matter had been brought to the attention of the Attorney General. If evidence justifies it, criminal prosecution will be brought against the station, Mr. Dill said.

Judge Robinson said that Mr. Henderson had been before the commission less than a year ago and at that time was backed by both senators from Louisiana and seven representatives. The judge added that he had not been able to learn that Henderson was guilty of the use of more profane language than the words "hell" and "damn." Whereupon he commented that he had thought the words profane several years ago, but in this day it seemed they are not.

Judge Robinson then called attention to the anti-Catholic propaganda which he said is being spread by Station WHAP, operated by Franklin Ford, in New York City.

Uncle Ray's Corner

A Little Saturday Talk.

HOW many books have you read so far this winter?

Winter is one of the best times of the year to enjoy good reading, and I hope you are having your share.

A year or two ago I asked boys and girls to write to tell me about their favorite books. The replies were interesting, and I found that books of science, travel and history were popular as well as story books.

Among the favorite story books were "Heidi," a story about a Swiss girl, and "Hans Brinker, or the Silver Skates," a tale of Holland and the brave deed of a Dutch boy.

It is a good idea to mix your reading. Adventure stories are fun to read, and no one misses the fun. History is supposed to tell us things that really happened long ago, and it is interesting to learn how people lived in olden times.

What a world of delight there is in science! It opens our eyes to things we might not guess if we did not study. How large does the moon seem to you? Maybe a foot or two across. But men of science have learned that the moon is really more than 2,000 miles wide. That is just one example of the things you may learn from books of science.

Travel books are also interesting to read. They tell us about the strange customs of people in other lands, of high mountains, deep seas and winding rivers.

A new leaflet is now ready for Corner readers. The title is "Good Books for Boys and Girls." This leaflet gives the names of more than 30 interesting books, and may be obtained without charge. Send a stamped envelope, addressed to yourself, and address your letter to Uncle Ray, Editor of Uncle Ray's Corner, in care of this newspaper. I shall be pleased if you will not only ask for the leaflet, but will also tell me the names of some of your favorite books. If you wish, you may tell why you like certain books.

If you wish, you may simply send this coupon, instead of writing a letter.

WORK'S BRIDGE

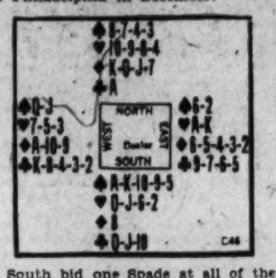
Work's Pointers in Contract Bridge

I AM giving below an interesting hand which was played in a Duplicate Contract Tournament participated in by a number of tables at Philadelphia in December.



South bid one Spade at all of the tables; in no case did either West or East bid. At most tables North bid three Spades, and South then went to four. In a few cases North bid three Diamonds, South three No Trumps and North four Spades.

The three-Diamond bid was made by players who use the forcing system, a part of which is that a shift-jump forces partner to bid again. Under any system a shift-jump urges partner to bid, but with non-forcers it is not a command; so it can be made with less strength and more accurately differentiates between strong and weak shifts.

When North bid three Spades, South was justified in going to four. After a double jump, a game bid should be made with a five-card major and shy holding better than the weakest minimum. South had two Queen-Jacks in other suits, which would be amply sufficient, and also a singleton. A singleton is not reckoned as an asset by an initial suit-bidder; but after being jumped to three, it justifies going to four.

The Play.

Some leaders chose the fourth best Club, although it is dangerous to lead from a King against a suit contract; some led the Ace of Diamonds although (as happened in this case) that lead may establish an adverse suit; and some led the Queen of trumps, thinking it the least harmful of the various possibilities. No one led from the worthless Heart trebleton—the most unsound guess in the hand—and yet in this case it would have saved game. With a Heart led, East would have won with the Ace, then led the King showing no more Hearts, and next a Diamond; West's Ace would have won and another Heart lead, ruffed by East, would have saved game. That rare luck would have shown how the worst lead at times will produce the best results.

At only one table was game saved and there the lead was the Jack of Spades (the best lead in the hand). The Declarer won in closed hand, put dummy in and finessed a second round of Spades (being deceived by the Jack lead and supposing the finesse a cinch); and at that table the adversaries won one Spade, two Hearts and one Diamond.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

JANUARY 11.
"CAPRICORN."

IF January 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4:45 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9:15 p. m.

Many good things are augured for this date—conditions in general will show improvement, and work and trade will start to pick up. Individual promotion and recognition are shown. Jupiter will bring you success.

Children born on this January 11 will have kindly and affectionate temperaments. They will be high-minded and idealistic and rather lacking in judgment. They will require a careful education in practical precept and prudence.

Goodness and kindness are integral parts of your character. Your deep sympathies and love of justice make you a willing burden carrier of other's troubles. Your love of humanity is very strong and very sincere. You will never so revel in your own happiness, or cry in your own sorrow, that you forget other people. You are always devoted to an ideal or a cause, and you have vital external interests of your business or home.

Determination more than anything else is the secret of your success. It is this factor which carries you ahead of those who are both physically and mentally your superiors. You grit your teeth and go straight ahead to one single goal. You have a deep love of knowledge, and you will be a student all of your life. Your powers of concentration are very pronounced, and it is easy for you to keep your mind in focus.

Your life seems to run in cycles; sometimes, you are very successful, at others very much the reverse. Do not attempt too much at the unfavorable periods, but bide your time until there is a change for the better. You possess a happily balanced temperament which will carry you through the dark periods of your life with a smile.

Successful people born January 11:
1—Alexander Hamilton, statesman.
2—William W. Seaton, journalist.
3—Isaac Knapp, abolitionist.
4—Ezra Cornell, capitalist.
5—Viscount Curzon, English statesman.
6—H. Gordon Selfridge, head London store.

Jane INTERPRETS the MODE

Clever fingers tricks up her boudoir with Dah-ray ideas!

Paris, Jan. 10.

ONE is permitted to open the door—and, vividly aware of the favor, one pauses on the threshold, feeling that the privilege of entering this most intimate setting of a woman's life requires some sort of obeisance.

And then the doors opened and you have entered, and every little intimate thing portrays to you the woman who lives there in her seclusion. You know much better the woman you thought you knew, because little things explain her to you—little elegancies, whimsies, trifles, things she has forgotten and things she has become so accustomed to that she no longer realizes what they express to others.

• • • •

How does your bedroom look to others? The way it looks to others is the way it subconsciously affects you, you know! And neither lack of money nor time nor carelessness are any excuse. For a woman who is too busy with business affairs to attend to such things can employ some one to do them for her, under her direction. If she is too busy socially, well, there just couldn't be such a thing!

If money is the issue, well, that doesn't mean so much, either, because as we have so often said the "handmade" things that cost so awfully much can be made by any one with clever fingers and good taste.

• • • •

Fr'instance, we had made this week some simply adorable and doggone useful hat-stands—hat-stands that won't topple over, out of old milk bottles! And then, being pressed to do so, a terrifically ingenuous bag, which hangs on the nail in the closet, quite out of sight and sound, for evening slippers, which must be kept from scraping against one another as well as from scraping against other shoes and what-nots. These and some other things we tell you how to make in next week's illustrated leaflet for which you may send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post.

• • • •

Want to know what is going to be terribly smart in ensembles for spring? Sh-h-h-h, it's awful much of a secret at the moment, but then, we are always so good to you! Having been told not to breathe a word of it—lend me your ears! Ensembles with a coat in a lighter shade of the same color as the dress! Thus—a brown dress and a beige coat. Or a deep green dress and a leaf green coat. Nice?

Have you sent your stamped, self-addressed envelope for this week's leaflet telling you how to make your own novelty jewelry? I hope so, because you will like it—both the leaflet and the jewelry, I mean!

Tomorrow is the day, again, to look for the weekly Dare fashion letter in The Sunday Washington Post.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

MAKING THE OYSTER SAFER.

THE chlorination of oysters as a means of making them safe is growing in this country. A British investigator, Dodgson, has just written a book on this subject. He bases his book on their many years' experience in chlorinating oysters at Conway, Wales. At that place they put the gathered oysters into tanks and leave them there until their shells are cleaned and the oysters have been cleared of bacteria and other refuse.

As a rule the oysters are held for three days in these tanks. The largest tank will hold sixteen tons of oysters, or 80,000 gallons of clean chlorinated sea water. The tanks are made of cement, with water inlets and outlets, and the bottom is a lathed false bottom through which dirt and excretions of the oysters may fall.

The method of washing or purification can be used with clams, mussels and other bivalves.

Oysters are an excellent food. They are needed to supplement our supplies of pork, beef, mutton and chicken. Now that they have been made and are being made safe, health experts are anxious to promote their use. They are against the various industrial and commercial customs by which great oyster raising areas are being made unavailable. They would like to see oysters grown far more extensively than they now are.

In a recent discussion of oyster growing methods used in Great Britain, Mr. J. M. Tabor said he was gathering oysters from a bed which had been used by his family for that purpose for over 400 years. More than 400 years ago one J. M. Tabor leased a certain oyster bed for 999 years. The lease has nearly half run and the bed is still producing good, safe oysters in good quantities. This proves that we do not need to abandon beds if we will but live and let live in accordance with the laws of health of oysters and man.

In this discussion it developed that oysters picked up copper, arsenic, iron, iodine and other minerals from the water with great alacrity. Most green oysters, but not all, contain copper but the amount they contain is not unwholesome for human consumers. They are prone to pick up disease bacteria from water, especially during the feeding season. This is now being prevented by inspection and regulation of beds and product and by chlorination.

It is hoped that the general adoption of chlorination may increase the acreage of usable oyster beds. It is also possible that it may eventually make oysters safe for eating during the warm months.

CENTRAL BEATS BUSINESS FIVE IN SERIES THRILLER

Paulino Beats Von Porat by Decision

Basque Stages Warm Rally After Taking Punishment.

Drives Norwegian to Cover With Heavy Blows to Body.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Fighting back fiercely from the valley of the deep fog, the ancient woodchopper from Spain, grim Paulino Uzcudun, carved a few chinks from the middle of lanky Otto Von Porat tonight and won a fight after 16,000 of the faithful were ready to start singing the old Beezark's swan song.

For three rounds, the tall, lantern-jawed schoolmaster from Norway poured right-hand volleys into the Spaniard's head until the glaring lights above must have been swimming in a sea of fireworks. Volley after volley crashed into the rock-ribbed chin of the Spaniard. One long right hand after another sank deep in his body. His nose poured crimson, his left eye turned red and lumps stood out all over his weather-beaten countenance.

Then, with his countrymen at the ringside shouting feeble vivas and a dozen bells clanging in his ears, this game old rock of the Pyrenees started to fight. He walked straight into Von Porat's cool, raking drives, shook his head and slashed at Otto's body, until the big Norwegian covered and the tide turned.

From the end of the third round on, when the boys in the derbies were wagering he would not go another round, Paulino won all there was to the fight with the exception of the fourth session. That was even and, though the Sapaniard's margin in several other rounds was but little, still he never did quit showing that Von Porat is one man he can whip.

GALLAUDET'S 6TH IN ROW EASY

Teams Finish Contest With 3 Players; Blue Ridge Bows, 45-16.

GALLAUDET had little trouble defeating the Blue Ridge College Basketers at Kendall Green last night, 45 to 16, for its sixth straight victory. The Blue floormen ran up an early lead and continued to add to the advantage as the game progressed. The Blue Ridge floor force was reduced to three players late in the contest and Gallaudet graciously withdrew two of its regulars, the game ending with but six players on the floor.

Delmar Cosgrove, the District's leading point scorer, added 14 points to his record. Gallaudet ran up a total of 24 points before Benedict pierced the net for Blue Ridge's first points. Gallaudet led at intermission, 25 to 5.

A last-minute spurt enabled Gallaudet Reserves to gain a 23 to 22 victory over Gonzaga High in the spirited preliminary attraction which proved more interesting to the spectators than the varsity game.

Stanford Grid Star To Assist Miss. Coach

Stanford University, Calif., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Charles "Chuck" Smalling, star full back of last year's Stanford Football Team, has accepted the position of assistant grid coach at the University of Mississippi. He will take up his duties either this spring or at the start of next season, he announced.

Tennis Changes Vetoed By Helen Wills Moody

New York, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody votes an emphatic "no" on the proposal that tennis players be limited to one serve instead of the customary two.

"Everybody would have a 'pop' serve," declared the hard-hitting woman champion of the world in response to a Nation-wide survey of player opinion conducted by the magazine, Tennis.

"Why change firmly established points of the game?" asked Queen Helen in taking the negative on another suggestion—that of playing over all net cord shots occurring during rallies. "Tennis should have all the tradition it can have.

Mandell-Qunitero Bout Postponed to Jan. 17

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 10 (A.P.). The lightweight fight between Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, and Manuel Quintero, Cuban cavalier, was called off before the first preliminary bout tonight on account of inclement weather.

The fight will be held in the outdoor arena of the Miami Kennel Club January 17, according to announcement from the office of G. P. K. Carter, promoter of the bout.

Hoppe in 3-Cushion, 18.1 Cue Matches Here

Washington balk-line and three-cushion billard fans are promised a treat Tuesday, when Willie Hoppe, present 18.1 world's champion and for sixteen years holder of the 18.2 title, meets Andrew Ponzi, of Philadelphia, in an exhibition match at the Lewis & Krauss parlor, 817 Fourteenth street northwest. Both matinee and night 18.1 and three-cushion matches will be played.

Hoppe is now taking a fling at the three-cushion game and is likely to run big clusters any time. That he rates around the top in this game is indicated by his recent 200-152 victory over Otto Reiselt. He recently set a world's record high run at 18.1 with a 296 unfinished string. After each of the matches here Hoppe will give an exhibition of trick and fancy shots.

A. A. U. Raises Ban On Polish Trackman

New York, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—The executive committee of the Amateur Athletic Union today lifted the bar it had placed on the competitive appearances of Stanislaw Petkiewicz, Polish middle distance runner.

After a hearing at which Petkiewicz and his friend and interpreter, Felix Weinthal, were present, the committee announced it had granted the Polish conqueror of Paavo Nurmi permission to compete, should be so desire, in the New York Athletic Club games in Madison Square Garden, February 17, and the National A. A. U. indoor championships at Atlantic City, March 8.

The Pole also said he would seek his government's permission to participate in the Prout memorial games at Boston, January 25, and the executive committee announced its willingness that Petkiewicz should run there. It declined, however, to sanction Petkiewicz's appearances in the Brooklyn Evening High School and Pastime Athletic Club meets, which he previously had entered.

VILLANOVA'S FIVE ROUTS C. U., 45-28

Czecik's Goals Give Visitors Big Lead at Start.

WITH George Czecik scoring 11 points in the first six minutes of play, the Villanova College Basket Ball Team last night took a 25-to-9 lead over Catholic University during the first half of their battle on the Brookland gymnasium and coasted to victory, 45 to 28.

Led by Johnny Oliver, the Cardinal Cagers rallied in vain in the second half. Their assault netted them but an even break in the second half scoring.

Coach Fred Rice elected to start his reserves against the Philadelphians and the Tiger first string tossers went far into the lead before the Cardinal regulars got into action. Czecik and Birmingham accounted for 8 points between them before C. U. was credited with a single point.

Villanova's reserves played the last two minutes of the initial half without losing any of the big advantage piled up by the regulars. Johnny Oliver stepped out in the second half for the Cardinals, registering four goals from the floor and a trio of fouls.

Walsh and Clements gave Oliver and Hickey good support for Catholic. The floor work of Edwards, Czecik, Holland and Morgan featured the visiting team's play. Edwards was every place, halting many C. U. assaults.

In the preliminary attraction, the Catholic Freshmen gained a 28-to-26 triumph over the Tech High Squad.

Shires Knocks Out Spohrer And Talks of Hack Wilson

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Arthur Shires chalked up his fourth ring victory out of five starts here tonight by gaining a four-round technical knockout over Bald-headed Al Spohrer, Boston Braves catcher. Spohrer struck a defensive pose in the second minute of the opening round and held it to the end.

After Spohrer was dropped for nine by a right hook to the head in the second, he ceased trying and was content to remain in a neutral corner with his arms protecting his face and bald head. The relaxation lasted for more than a minute.

Spohrer became aggressive enough to cut Shires' lower lip with a light left jab in the third and they rested again, after the great Arthur had pelted him with a few harmless rights. Shires continued his wild right swings in the fourth and so many of them landed that Spohrer's advisers threw in the towel.

Ringside statisticians announced that Shires landed 87 right hooks during the brief bout and had 39 misses. Spohrer's score was 27 hits, none of them heavy, and 20 misses.

The capacity crowd of 18,000 jeered Shires before, during and after the performance but he finally waved it into silence long eough to announce: "I didn't want Al Spohrer. I want Hack Wilson."

Outsider Tops Golf's Elite On Coast

Denver Golfer Turns in 70; Smith Stays in Running.

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAN.

RIVIERA COUNTRY CLUB, Los Angeles, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Crouched behind a bulwark of sodden fairways, distressingly slow greens and wind gusts that darted in and out of this canyon course, Old Man Par resisted all but one attack on his stronghold today in the first round of the annual 72-hole $10,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Championship.

To a rank outsider—Johnny Rogers, of Denver—went the honor today of turning in a subpar card of 70, 1 under standard par figures, while each and every luminary of American golf now on the ground was forced to be content with scores reaching amazingly high totals.

Rogers, unsung and unnoticed, clubbed his way down a course made doubly difficult through unusual weather conditions. He conquered Riviera with an outgoing nine of 34, 1 under par, and rode home on the crest of a wave of pars that brought cheers from the spectators waiting at the eighteenth green.

The Denver entrant's feat silenced the thunder of the big guns of golf. His nearest rivals, Al Espinosa, of Chicago, and Charles Seaver, 18-year-old amateur of Los Angeles, chalked up 72's. Each turned in 36's for the two nines.

Smith and Diegel Score 73's.

Trapped by the trickery of the elements and dead greens, Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., young pro sensation; Leo Diegel, of Agua Caliente, P. A. champion, and Denny Shute, of Columbus, Ohio, worked their way around the course in 73 strokes each.

MacDonald Smith, winner of this event for the last two years and a favorite to repeat, faltered in his putting game and took a 39—38—77. Far behind, Walter Hagen, of Detroit, soared up to an 81. "The Haig," holder of various important titles in the world at times, cracked wide open for a 41-40 to practically eliminate himself from the important money. Both his long and short games were off.

Former national open title holders, Tommy Armour, of Detroit, and Johnny Farrell, of St. Augustine, Fla., had first rounds of 34—40—74, and 38—38—76. Armour's outgoing nine was 1 under par, but his game went to pieces coming in. Two other veteran campaigners, Bobby Cruickshank, of New York, and Abe Espinosa, of Chicago, finished the first day in the 74 class.

Seaver Leads Amateurs.

National Boxing Body Plans for Wrestling

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Defense of championships against logical contenders once every four months and public bidding by promoters for the right to stage title matches, featured the rules and regulations outlined today by the National Boxing Association, which, effective immediately, will govern professional wrestling in the United States.

Stanley M. Isaacs, president of the N. B. A., said that additional steps to protect the public and place the mat game on an organized basis, including posting of forfeits by all wrestlers appearing in title bouts, that wrestlers must accept terms offered by promoters, that champions are to be decided at present in only four classes and that the N. B. A. reserved the right to specify the competitors eligible to wrestle for titles.

Inactivity in the lighter weight classes made it inadvisable at this time, Isaacs said, to settle title claims among the little fellows. Championships will be awarded only in four classes, heavyweight, light heavyweight, middleweight and welterweight.

The N. B. A. picked five men in each class who could enter an elimination tournament to determine the champions and specified that a champion will be named in all classes by April 20, 1930.

Colonials Win, 29-22, Over American

G. W. Holds Lead in Second Half; Sells, of Losers, Shines.

TIMELY shooting from the field by George Harris, and accurate work from the foul line by the whole team enabled the George Washington Colonials to defeat their ancient rivals, the American University Eagles, 29 to 22, last night in the H street gymnasium.

The Eagles, playing inspired basket ball, forced the Colonials to travel at top speed throughout. Excepting the last minute, there was never a wider margin than 6 points between them. Pregame dope had strongly favored G. W. as American lost four of its regular players only last Monday, but the "left-overs," who evidently didn't know their own strength, managed to keep their foes worried from start to finish.

Harris inserted two of his four field goals in the first half when it appeared that American might take the decision. His second shot, a long heave, sent the Colonials ahead by 8 to 6. In the second half he tossed two more fielders and a foul in the waning moments to erase all doubt as to the ultimate winner.

Elongated Sells Proves Star.

In Oscar Sells, a strapping center who learned his basket ball in the wilds of the Tennessee mountains, Harris had a close rival for the night's individual honors. Sells, using his height to advantage, proved a terror to George Washington under the basket. He scored four field goals and a foul.

The lead changed hands five times in the first half before Irving Fine gave G. W. the lead for good with a pair of one-pointers. An easy goal from under the net by Thacker, a substitute, placed the Colonials at a 17-14 advantage at the intermission.

With Sells checked by Hoover in the second half, American switched its plans and Capt. George Olsen, lone remaining member of the old regular team, shouldered the attacking burden. Only two of his numerous shots dropped through, however.

Sensational shooting from near and afar by Forrest Burgess featured the fifth successive victory of the George Washington Freshmen last night, the French A. C. being the victims by a score of 43 to 18. Burgess collected a total of 19 points, sinking seven field goals and five charity tosses. Dave Kepple proved the mainstay for the defeated team, playing a fine all-around game.

Marty Galagher Wins From Johnny Grosso

Madison Square Garden, New York, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Marty Gallagher, youthful heavyweight from Washington, took revenge on Johnny Grosso for two past beatings by defeating the New York veteran in easy fashion in the ten-round semifinal. Jarring left hooks and short rights to the head and body had Grosso in distress in the sixth and tenthf rounds. There were no knockdowns. Gallagher weighed 196½; Grosso, 198½.

Pelicans Pilot Willed Equivalent of Losses

New Orleans, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Larry Gilbert, the bat boy, who had been made manager of the New Orleans Pelicans by Alexander Julius Heilmann, owner of the club, will be paid the full amount he lost in the stock market, while operating with his chief under provisions of Heinemann's short will filed for probate today.

Heinemann killed himself Wednesday night in his office at the ball park after brooding for weeks over his ill health and $336,000 loss in the market crash. His friends said he was more worried over the losses of his friends, who had bought stock on his advice, than over his own loss. He was particularly concerned over Gilbert's loss as he had taken him on his staff as a bat boy and steadily advanced him to manager.

Western Overcomes Eastern Lead in Successful Debut.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER, Jr.

BEFORE a crowd delirious from 40 minutes of wild and woolly basket ball, Central High's up and coming courtmen sent their followers into ecstasies of joy and Business students into the depths of despair by scoring 3 points in the last two minutes of play, to nose out the brilliant ers been threatened with the cases of tral-Business battle promised to bring hands down. The Mount Pleasant team presented a defense which was well-nigh impenetrable to the wearers of the Orange and Blue, and but five field goals were scored by the losers throughout the game.

Rarely, if ever, has an early season game produced such a thrillinig brand of play as was produced in that first game yesterday, and only on few occasions have the high school followers been subjected to the cases of nervous prostration which the Central-Business battle threatened to bring on.

Had it not been for the ability of the Business team to continue its brilliant showing from the foul line, the Central five would have won hands down. Coach Coggins' men presented a defense which was well-nigh impenetrable to the wearers of the Orange and Blue, and but five field goals were scored by the losers throughout the game. Central thus takes the lead in the series, with two victories in as many games.

Newman Scoreless From Scrimmage.

Natie Newman, previous high-scoring forward of Business, was held without a point from the floor, so effectively was he covered by Stanley Parkins, Blue and White guard, and two baskets by Chase and Loftus and a single one by Singman were the only Business markers not registered from the 15-foot mark.

On the other hand, Capt. Wilbur Cross and Downey Rice again led the Central attack, which submerged their second opponent in the interhigh race, with the latter getting one more field goal than his leader.

However, the accuracy of the Business shots from the free-scoring zone enabled that team to emerge from the first twenty minutes of play one point in the lead, having 13 to Central's 12. After Central had gotten away to a 5-0 lead on two baskets by Rice and a foul by Cross, Business scored three fouls in succession. Two more double-deckers by Lampson and Delisio made the count read 9 to 3, but here the Stenogs rallied to keep pace with their opponents and finally go into the lead.

After Rice had come through with a beautiful shot, performed by spinning around and flipping the ball in with one hand, four Business fouls sent that team into the lead for the first time with the last one by Chase coming just as the half-time gun barked.

Chase's Loss Blow To Business.

With the rooters of both teams standing in their seats and the gymnasium a bedlam of noise, the two fives continued their even-up play for the next seven minutes of play. With the score 19-19, however, Business suffered a heavy blow when Spencer Chase, its brilliant center, was banned from the game on account of personal fouls.

Although Cross followed up a foul to send Central into the lead once more, 21-19, Loftus made good on a free chance and immediately after sent his team into the van with a fancy one-hand shot which made the score read 22-21 with Business holding the upper hand.

With the seconds rapidly ticking off and Central rooters desperately begging for the tying score, Parkins proved himself the hero by dropping one in from a close range, giving his team a 1-point margin. Cross soon after dropped in another foul four seconds before the end, which practically decided the affair. Before

G. U. QUINTET BEATEN BY WEST VA.

Hilltop Five Bows by 34-27 After Gaining Late Lead.

Special to The Washington Post.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 10. Two fast college outfits staged a sizzling court battle here this evening, but a taller and more accurate West Virginia University quint, led by its brilliant captain, "Little Sleepy" Glenn, topped Georgetown University, 34 to 27, before 2,100 fans.

The game was close throughout and was not decided until the last six minutes, when Truehart Taylor, veteran forward, doing reserve duty, was rushed into the fray. He collaborated with Capt. Glenn in an avalanche of shots from under the hoop and swept the Hoyas out of the picture.

A rally at the end of the first half gave the Mountaineers a 17-to-13 lead going into the rest period, but Georgetown closed the gap at the outset of the second half and had a 20-to-19 lead with 9 minutes to play.

Glenn Regains Lead.

Capt. Glenn put West Virginia back in the lead with a goal, and then Taylor was injected into the game. He added four, there from close in, and Glenn picked up another.

The game was marred by a great number of personal fouls, the result of the speedy, aggressive play. Both outfits did good work from the gift line, but to Dutton, graceful Hoya center, goes the major credit. He bagged four field goals and nine in thirteen foul attempts to get 17 of his team's 27 points. Capt. McCarthy, Georgetown's long-range artist, was checked completely.

Street Looks For Pitching Comeback

Increased Infield Reserve Strength Is Expected.

By REX T. NEWMAN.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—When the St. Louis Cardinals go into the 1930 National League pennant fray they will be relying chiefly upon a comeback by their pitching staff—minus Grover Cleveland Alexander—an increased infield reserve strength and the leadership of another new manager to make them a title threat.

Changing managers has become almost a habit with the Cardinals. This year finds them with their sixth in about as many seasons in the grizzled old veteran, Charles "Gabby" Street, coach of the 1929 Red Birds and successor to Bill McKechnie.

Street expects to present much the same outfit of front-line troops who went through the 1929 battle and ended up in a fourth place retreat after a brilliant start. Gabby, former major league catcher and somewhat of an expert in handling moundsmen, is reposing much faith in recovery of his pitchers.

Hallahan Chief Reliance in Box.

His particular reliance is in Bill Hallahan, young left-hander, who waited until September last year to win his first game and then won four in impressive form. He also believes the veterans Jess Haines and Wee Willie Sherdel will return to their best form, backed up by Sylvester Johnson, Harold Haid and Fred Frankhouse, all regulars.

And then there is Flint Rhem, former Cardinal ace, who went awry and who is to be given another chance this year after an impressive 1929 season at Houston, Tex. Street also has a trio of promising youngsters in Al Grabowski, of Danville, who came up to do some showy pitching at the tail end of last season; Jim Lindsey, of Houston, and "Kill" Carlton, of Rochester. In addition, there will be a flock of young hopefuls at spring camp from the Houston and Rochester farms.

Alexander is the only regular pitcher lost. This old hero of the 1926 world series went to the Phillies in a trade.

Gabby has strengthened his infield with Sparky Adams, a second baseman obtained from Pittsburgh, and Joe Hunt, flashy young Houston shortstop. Under present plans, Frankie Frisch, regular second baseman, will be shifted to third to fight it out with Andy High for a regular berth on the hot corner. Charley Gelbert, who played his first big league ball in 1929, is regarded as sure to be a much improved shortstop. Jim Bottomley will, of course, be back at first.

Hafey, Douthit, Orsatti Outfield Choices.

Chick Hafey, Taylor Douthit and Ernest Orsatti are Street's choices for the regular outfield assignments, with Walter Roettger, Homer Peel, the latter obtained from Philadelphia, and Roscoe Holm in reserve. Holm also is available for infield reserve duty.

In addition, Ray Blades, Street's new coach, who was a member of the World Champion Cardinals in 1926, has announced he will try to land an outfield job.

With this outlay, Street, who this year will be making his bow as a big league manager, is brim full of confidence that the Cardinals will be real flag contenders. The Red Bird exhibition schedule will be curtailed this spring because President Sam Breadon believes a too ambitious exhibition program overtaxes the players before they are tuned up to midseason form.

6 Jewish Center Teams To Seek Titles in Post's A. A. U. Court Tourney

JEWISH Community Center teams will again figure prominently in the District A. A. U. basket ball tournament to be held under the auspices of The Washington Post, starting on March 10. Coach Sollad has taken up the reins relinquished by Manny Goldfarb, who sent powerful combinations into both the boys' and girls' divisions last year. Six teams again will represent the J. C. C. in six classes of the tournament.

Goldfarb left the Center last fall to take over new duties at Newark, N. J., and for some time the basket ball program was rather uncertain. Sollad has taken over the court teams and now feels familiar enough with the various teams to promise plenty of competition for title-aspiring clubs in the A. A. U. tournament.

J. C. C. Won 100-Pound Title Last Year.

Last year Goldfarb's clubs met with unprecedented success in practically every section of the tournament. His 100-pound boy's five won the local title, but was defeated by a narrow margin in the South Atlantic finals. Practically every other Center team reached the finals or semi-finals. Both the girls' and men's unlimited teams were rated among the best in the city.

Sollad has a good nucleus of material left from last year's teams to carry on under his guidance. His teams have shown well to date and he expects to have his best combinations working regularly in preparation for the tournament from now until March.

Scores of Teams Point For Tourney.

Scores of teams are now pointing for the A. A. U. tournament, especially the lightweight organizations which have to make weight limits. The 145-pound and unlimited men's teams are seeking their best material and mustering new players to fill weak spots before registering. The teams entering the latter two classes must be properly registered by midnight of January 31.

William E. Russell, local registration official, is expecting an eleventh-hour rush, as but few teams have registered to date. Mr. Russell suggested that teams wishing to avoid unnecessary delays register immediately.

VA. STICKMEN WILL PLAY BRITISH

April 7 Game Features Lacrosse Year at Charlottesville.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Jan. 10. An attractive schedule is being arranged for Virginia's varsity lacrosse team and probably will include six games. An especially interesting feature on the card will be the tilt with a picked team from Oxford and Cambridge Universities, of England, here on April 7.

The Britishers make a tour of the United States every four years and this spring Virginia will be the first American team to cross sticks with the visitors. Among the other teams which are slated to oppose the Oxford-Cambridge combine are St. John's, Navy, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Harvard.

In addition to the foreign team, the Cavaliers will play Georgia Tech, Duke, Randolph-Macon and two other teams which have not yet been announced.

Both the varsity and first-year boxing teams are winding up their preseason training with a determination to have a most successful year in the ring. The entire varsity squad is back in good trim and, from appearances, shows more flash than it did prior to the holidays.

Outlook in Heavy Classes Not Bright.

The men who suffered minor injuries during the early training season are back in good shape. Several new men are now out for positions on the teams, but as yet there is no happy outlook for Coach LaRowe in the heavyweight divisions.

Morning road work has been instituted by Coach LaRowe in order to put added snap to the workouts. This is supplemented by the usual afternoon practices.

The boxing schedule follows: January 18, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, in Blacksburg; 25, Virginia Military Institute, at home; February 3, Florida, at home; 8, North Carolina, at home; 15, Duke University, in Durham; 22, Pennsylvania, at home.

Carper, Duke Boxer, Packs Heavy Punch

Durham, N. C., Jan. 10 (A. P.)—John Carper, Duke University ministerial student and boxing star, hits so hard that Coach Tex Tilson makes him wear 16-ounce gloves in practice. Carper, who won seven straight fights by knockouts last winter, has gained 20 pounds and now is a light-heavyweight.

Charlotte Hall Beats Landon Quintet, 37-21

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlotte Hall, Md., Jan. 10.—The Charlotte Hall School Five scored a comparatively easy victory over the Landon School Cagers of Washington here this afternoon, 37 to 21. After piling up a 21-to-9 lead in the first half, the Charlotte Hall passers romped to victory without extending themselves.

Woodworth and Southern were the principal cogs in the winning attack. The former accounts for sixteen points. Buscher and Smith performed well for the losers.

New Athletic Field For 'Allegany High

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 10.—Work was begun this week on the new athletic field of Allegany High School, adjoining the building on Campobello, at Sedgewick street. County Superintendent Charles L. Kopp said the work was the first step in a program which aimed ultimately to produce a complete outdoor athletic plant, including steel and wood stands, a quarter mile cinder running path, football, baseball, soccer and field playing surfaces and other features.

The field, which is 90 yards wide and 140 yards long, will be sown with clover first and later with blue grass, the same turf with which the stadia of large colleges and universities is sown.

Western Md. Five Plays Susquehanna

Special to The Washington Post.

Selinsgrove, Pa., Jan. 10.—Western Maryland clashes with Susquehanna varsity basket ball quintet in the first intercollegiate game of the year for the Orange and Maroon tomorrow night. Western Maryland possessed one of the few unbeaten teams in football this fall, winning eleven straight games. Several of the football stars also engage in the court game and will see action against Susquehanna Saturday night. This game promises to be one of the hardest on Susquehanna's schedule and Coach Ullery has made every effort to mould together a team that will give the invaders a real battle. Hard scrimmages were held the earlier part of the week and a decided improvement in the passing and shooting departments could be noticed.

The squad was considerably augmented in the way of material this week when Dinny Wormley, John Wall and C. Dreibelbis reported for practice. The first two were handicapped earlier in the season by football injuries while Dreibelbis was injured in an auto accident. All are in good shape now and may break into the line-up sometime on Saturday night. Wormley in particular has been showing good form.

W. & L. FINDS ST. JOHN'S EASY

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., Jan. 10.—Washington and Lee sent Leigh Williams and Harris Cox into action to score 18 and 10 of its 51 points against St. John's College, Annapolis, tonight, while the Johnnies were totaling only 16, as their ace, Capt. Bob MacCartee, was held scoreless.

The battle started off slowly, with the Generals scoring 7 points before the invaders counted, after eight minutes, with a free try, and the first half was more than half gone before Hoff sank one from the floor for the Johnnies, first double-decker. Baird dropped into two before the end of the half to run the Annapolis tossers' total to 7 for the half, while W. and L. hit on high as half time neared to stand with a 21 at the end of the period. Williams sank five of seven free throws in this half.

The Generals, guarded closely but cleanly, did not have a single try for a foul shot during the last 20 minutes, but seven members of the squad succeeded in ringing 15 from the floor to add 30 points to their total, while the Johnnies were able to break through for but 9 more points.

14 Generals Take Part In Contest.

Dick Smith, W. and L. coach, used fourteen men during the fracas, half of whom hit the meshes, while Tody Riggs, of the invaders, sent nine men into the fray in an effort to stem the tide of Blue and White baskets. The short passing attack of the Generals seldom failed to break through the Johnnies' defense as long as some of the first ten men were on the floor, while their defense soon made the invaders resort to long shots.

Baird, center, appeared strongest for St. John's, playing the floor well in addition to trying with Czelusniak for scoring honors for the losers with 4 points.

Physical Examinations Compulsory for Players

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Compulsory physical examination of all candidates for athletic teams at the high school here, both boys and girls, has been ordered as a regular part of the preparation for teams, it was announced today. The move is in the interest of safety to the individuals, school officials said.

In addition, participants in games will be required to maintain an academic standing of "C" grade, which is slightly above the State requirement. The scholastic move was at the suggestion of the student council, later approved by the faculty.

Navy Regulars Start Against Duke Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 10.—The Navy Basket Ball Team, undefeated so far, is expecting its first stiff opposition when it hooks up with Duke University of North Carolina tomorrow afternoon. It is known that the Blue Devils are particularly anxious to take the measure of the Tars, and they are resting today after their thrilling battle with University of Maryland last night at College Park, which they tucked away by a 1-point margin.

Duke is led by Crossan, star center, and two scoring guards in Faber and Werber, and Navy will have its hands full, according to Coach John N. Wilson. To top his worries Wilson may have to shift his varsity line-up, as Reinhardt, forward, is suffering from a slightly sprained back. Keyes, of last season's plebe team, will take his place. Wilson deviates from his practice of starting the understudies, "We can not afford to spot Duke a thing," Wilson remarked. The game begins at 2:30 o'clock.

Prior to the varsity game the plebes will make their debut against Emerson Institute at 1 o'clock.

STOCKS UNCERTAIN AS SALES DECLINE

UTILITIES LOSE GROUND

New York, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—The stock market faltered today, as short covering appeared to have been completed for the moment, without the unwilling aid of the "bear" crowd, pools were unable to follow up yesterday's advances. Speculators generally remained apathetic, and the volume of trading barely approximated yesterday's turnover, sales totaling 2,386,190.

Credit was a little firmer, reflecting primarily the week-end pay roll and bank requirements. Call money renewed at 4½ per cent, and failed to drop to 4 as it did during the three preceding sessions. Time money was also tighter, with 4¾ per cent flat quoted for all maturities. Leading dealers increased the rates for shorter maturities of bankers' acceptances by ⅛ of 1 per cent.

Announcement by United States Steel that unfilled orders during December increased nearly 300,000 tons, carrying the total close to last year's peak of April 30, failed to generate much enthusiasm, as orders were evidently permitted to pile up while operations were reduced. The weekly business reviews reported signs of a gradual upturn in industrial activity, particularly steel, but said that weather conditions had been unfavorable to retail trade.

Steel Shares are Firm.

Share prices generally fluctuated uncertainly and in narrow ranges. The Standard Statistics Co. index of 90 leading stocks showed a decline of 6-10 of 1 point. Steels were generally firm, while utilities were inclined to react after yesterday's advance, centering in that group. U. S. Steel sold up more than 2 points, then sagged, closing up only ½. Some of the independents made moderate headway, Bethlehem, Follansbee Bros., and Spang Chalfont gaining a point or two, while Sloss Sheffield rallied 5 points. Republic and Colorado Fuel, however, each lost about a point.

Shares losing 2 to 4 points included American & Foreign Power, Du Pont, Firestone, Foster Wheeler, Hudson, Nickel Plate, Simmons, Western Union and Westinghouse Electric. Radio and General Electric each lost a point. American Machine and International Silver each dropped 7 points.

Several shares made fair gains, including Allied Chemical, Chesapeake & Ohio, Coca Cola, General Railway Signal, Gold Dust, National Biscuit, Otis Elevator, Norfolk & Western, Pittsburgh & West Virginia and Safeway Stores, closing 2 points higher.

United Cigar Preferred Inactive.

United Cigar issues, already well deflated, failed to respond to the report of the auditors sharply reducing earnings as reported by the previous management. The common stock was unchanged at 4½ and the preferred was inactive.

Commodities were reactionary. Wheat futures broke 3 cents a bushel on a statement by a member of the Farm Board that current loan prices applied only to the current crop. Corn lost a cent and more. Cotton sagged 55 to 80 cents a bale, losing nearly half yesterday's gains, in profit taking and in response to easier Liverpool cables.

Foreign exchanges rates again declined, wiping out yesterday's advance. The peseta, however, rallied sharply. Dealers attributed the easiness of leading currencies to a growing conviction that world credit rates are on the decline. Reductions in both the Bank of England and Bank of France rates during the next few weeks are predicted. Sterling cables closed off one-sixteenth of a cent.

NEW ISSUES CAUSE DROP IN BOND PRICES

Financing of $150,000,000 by American Telephone Features Market.

FOREIGN SHARES ACTIVE

New York, Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Listed bonds were faced with competition from important prospective new financing today and the structure of market prices softened a trifle. In addition, money rates were a shade firmer, reflecting week-end readjustments by banks.

Announcement of the $150,000,000 issue of American Telephone 35-year debenture 5s of 99½ caused favorable comment in bond circles, which regarded the loan by the big utility as rather in the nature of a vote of confidence in the current market as well as in the country's fundamental economic position.

Bankers recalled that the same company's issue of bonds several years ago came just before a protracted rise in fixed income securities. It was understood that oversubscription of the current loan was virtually assured, although the books do not open until Monday. The debentures were traded "when issued" on the New York Produce Exchange's securities market during the afternoon at quotations ranging between 100¾ and 101. The listed 5s of 1960 were again sold freely, touching 101 and closing half a point above that figure for a net loss of ¾.

Tennessee Loan Sold.

In addition to the utility issue, a banking group offered $29,080,000 in State of Tennessee serial 4½s and 4¾s, priced to yield 4.40 to 4.50. This issue was purchased by a New York syndicate from Tennessee bankers. More than the loan was reported sold an hour after the offering was made.

The result of these operations was a small decline in the quotations on numerous high grade domestic listings, which have been moving upward. Closing prices were more irregular than for several days, but the market's undertone was steady.

Rails, leaders of the recent advance, met with minor realizing, part of which was profit taking from the high levels. The averages showed recessions in both the carrier and utility groups, although the industrials managed to edge higher. United States Governments were dull and irregularly lower in keeping with the temper of the money markets.

Chesapeake & Ohio Loses.

Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Erie 5s, Virginian Railway 5s, Missouri, Kansas & Texas prior lien 5s, Missouri, Pacific 5s, Pennsylvania general 4½s, St. Louis & Southwestern 4½s and prior lien 4s, Southern Railway general 6s, and Union Pacific first 4s found lower ground, but there was some improvement in Baltimore & Ohio refunding 5s, Atchison general 4s, Rock Island general 4s, Nickel Plate 5½s series B, and a few others. In the utility section minor selling affected Kansas Gas & Electric 5s, Utah Power & Light 5s and American Telephone 5½s. The group, however, was generally firm.

Higher prices appeared in American Smelting 5s, Reading Coal & Iron 5s, Republic Iron & Steel collateral 5s, Western Electric 5s and miscellaneous other industrials.

Convertibles experienced a dull day, moving narrowly on small turnovers. The irregularity net changes were mostly fractional.

STORES IN DISTRICT SHOW SALES JUMP

Federal Reports Says City's Business 2 Per Cent More Than December, 1928.

POTOMAC BANK DIVIDEND

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Department stores in the Fifth or local Federal Reserve District exceeded those of any other Federal reserve district in Christmas trade in percentage gain, the review of the Federal Reserve Board for December, based on 478 stores in leading cities, revealed yesterday. Although department store sales for December in the country decreased 2 per cent from December, 1928, those of the local district increased 2 per cent.

The percentage of stores in this district revealing a gain instead of loss was greater than for the entire country. Nine districts reported decreases and the New York district reported an increase of 1.8 per cent; the San Francisco, one of .2 per cent, and the Richmond, or local district, one of 2 per cent. The month had 25 business days, the same as December, 1928.

Francis J. Kilkenny, investment banker of Chicago, and a former Washingtonian, guest at the Willard Hotel for a few days, discussed financing of 1929 and 1930 yesterday as follows: "The year 1929 will probably stand for some time as the year of record financing. Corporate financing alone reached a total of $12,000,000,000, fully ten and three-quarters of the amount representing new capital. Along with this another billion and one-half represented State and municipal financing, and another quarter billion was in the form of foreign government, city and State loans. This total, exceeding thirteen and one-half billion dollars, is a new financing record for this or any other country, if we except Government war financing.

Sees Ease in 1930 Financing.

"Financing during 1930 will be in smaller volume and a larger portion must take the form of interest-bearing securities, bonds, debentures and notes. Marketing new stock issues during the present year will be made difficult by the recent downward slide of the price of shares on the leading stock exchanges. As the investing public is already turning to bonds for investment such financing should be accomplished with ease as the year advances. The great reduction in income taxes for salary and wage earners will of itself release a considerable volume of money for investment, a good part of which should find its way into bonds during the year."

When Ambassador Dawes came to Washington as Comptroller of the Currency, Mr. Kilkenny came as his secretary and served in the capacity of secretary to two succeeding Comptrollers of the Currency, William Barret Ridgeley and Laurence O. Murray. Mr. Kilkenny was also assistant to Gen. Charles G. Dawes in the organization of the Bureau of the Budget. Returning to Chicago, he entered the investment banking business, in which profession he has continued save when called on for Government service as adviser on finances. Born in Ireland, Mr. Kilkenny became celebrated about twenty years ago as the originator and promoter of the "Back to Ireland Movement." Mrs. Kilkenny has accompanied her husband on this trip to Washington and is entertaining their friends in an apartment at the Willard.

Tile Firm Elects Officers.

Reelection of all officers and directors of the Washington Tile & Marble Co., Inc., was announced yesterday following the annual meeting. They are A. N. Ascosi, president; Vito Cardinale, vice president; N. H. Glueck, secretary. In addition to the foregoing other directors are N. S. Glueck, Angelo J. Badini, Vincent J. Pietro and Frank Pastore.

The report of President George A. Harris to stockholders of the Potomac Joint Stock Land Bank, shows increased earnings during the past year, and it is stated that on account of the high money rates prevailing, no bond issues were put on the market during the past year and few loans were made. President Harris states, however, that it gave an opportunity to make a survey of the loans already on the books. He predicts that the investment public will soon turn to conservative bonds, and when that time arrives the bank will offer a new issue of bonds.

On December 31, by authorization of the board, the bank increased its legal reserve to the amount of $80,000. Hereafter only 5 per cent of the net earnings, instead of 25 per cent, will be required to be set aside to legal reserve. The bank declared its usual 1½ per cent semiannual dividend, payable February 1, to stockholders of record December 20. After the legal requirements are complied with and the dividend paid, a substantial amount will be left to undivided profits. The financial statement of the bank shows capital, reserve and profits in excess of $600,000.

Satisfactory District Exchange.

Yesterday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange was a satisfactory one, but two issues registering declines among the nine in trading; four holding to latest levels and three selling at advanced prices. Commercial National Co. preferred led the market, 66 shares selling at 99½ last sale price.

Commercial transactions during the week ending January 4, as measured by volume of checks presented to banks for payment, were substantially larger than during the previous week, although less than a year ago, according to the weekly statement of the Department of Commerce.

Steel plants were operating at a lower level than in the corresponding period of last year and receipts of wheat, cotton and hogs at the principal markets were smaller than for the corresponding week of 1928, while receipts of cattle exceeded those of a year ago. Distribution of goods as indicated by the volume of freight-car loadings for the latest reported week was lower than in the same period of a year ago.

Index Prices Decline.

The general index of wholesale prices was fractionally less than during the preceding week and considerably lower than a year ago. Cotton prices also declined from the previous week, while the price of wheat increased and was also considerably above last year's level.

Interest rates on time money remained at the same level as during recent weeks, but rates on call money were considerably above recent levels. Bond prices increased fractionally, but were substantially lower than a year ago, and business failures were somewhat more numerous than during either the previous week or the corresponding week of last year.

Bituminous coal production in the United States during the week ended January 4, according to the estimate of the National Coal Association, was about 10,175,000 net tons. The weekly output as reported by the United States Bureau of Mines for the week ended December 28 (Christmas week) was 7,675,000 net tons, and for the week ended December 21 it was 11,156,000.

The total quantity of soft coal mined in 1929 is estimated at 525,358,000 net tons, compared with 500,745,000 in 1928 and 517,763,000 in 1927.

The Western Union Telegraph Co. today announces that its affiliated company, the Teleregister Corporation, is about to extend to Chicago its centrally operated automatic quotation board service which has been in operation in New York City for almost a year.

Wires will be leased from New York to Chicago, and the best available transmission systems and methods will be used so that Chicago boards can be operated direct from New York City. This will make it possible to post Chicago boards so promptly that the service will in all respects be as rapid as that given brokers' offices in New York City.

This announcement follows the beginning recently made by the Western Union Telegraph Co. of a $4,500,000 program of Nation-wide installation of new high speed tickers.

The new ticker service will be installed in Washington in May or June.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA.

ARLINGTON CHAMBER OFFICERS ELECTED

A. J. SAVILLE IS SPEAKER

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

The Arlington County Chamber of Commerce held its annual meeting and election of officers last night in the Washington-Lee High School with more than 125 persons attending.

The business meeting was preceded by a dinner served by the members of the domestic science class of the school and opened with the invocation given by M. E. Church. President Keith A. Brumback presided.

President Brumback read a comprehensive report showing progress made by the organization during the past year. Among the outstanding features of the report was the part played by the organization in the zoning of the county in cooperation with the county board of supervisors. It was shown that the organization contributed the sum of $3,600 toward the expenses of the project and was largely responsible for the appointment of Allen J. Saville, of Richmond, Va., as the zoning engineer who directed the work of the zoning commission.

Among other features of the report was the industrial survey which was made by engineers of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, the report of which will be available the later part of this month.

The report also pointed out the part which has been played during the year in the development of the boulevard system of the county, stressing the point that, as a result of the two visits made to the county by Gov. Harry F. Byrd, as the guest of the organization, much has been accomplished.

Allan J. Saville, the principal speaker, discussing the zoning of Arlington County, declared it was the first county of the 100 counties of the State to make the move and that in his opinion it was one of the most progressive steps the county could have made.

"Arlington County has a bright future, with the land lying, as it does, overlooking the aNtion's Capital, and is bound to continue to develop most rapidly," he said.

"Let every section of the county unite, forget all sectional feelings and cooperate with all interests, and Arlington County is bound to be one of the most progressive counties in the State," he declared.

"Zoning after all," said Saville, "is to determine the use of the available land, the height of buildings, and the area these buildings shall occupy," concluded Saville.

Other speakers were Fred A. Gosnell, chairman of the zoning commission; A. J. Webb, secretary of the commission; County Engineer C. L. Kinnier, Robert H. Forman, member of the commission, and Supervisors E. C. Turnburke and B. M. Hedrick.

Members of teh board of directors elected are: For three years, B. O. Bowles, A. C. Jones, A. B. Hontz, William P. Ames and M. E. Church; for two years—William S. Hoge, jr., and Charles T. Jesse and Hugh Reid, tied; and for one year, George Seagmuller and H. L. Kirby, with Dr. William E. Martin, A. L. Kelley and Frank L. Ball, tied. It was announced that there will be a meeting of the directors within the next week, at which time the tie vote for members of the board for two years will be determined, as will the one year. There will also be four more directors elected at this meeting.

By unamious vote, Allen J. Saville, of Richmond, Va., and County Engineer C. L. Kinnier were elected honorary members of the organization.

Stephen S. Childs was elected president of the Arlington County Master Plumbers Association at its meeting held last night. Other officers are Robert Vranick, vice president; H. C. Messick, secretary; E. H. Birch, treasurer, and Peter Stark, sergeant at arms.

Indorsement to the bill introduced by Representative R. Walton Moore providing for the policing of all military roads leading out of Washington into Virginia for a distance of 5 miles was given by the County Board of Supervisors at a special meeting held yesterday at the County Courthouse.

The secretary was instructed to write to both Senator Claude A. Swanson and Representative Moore advising them of the action taken.

Sheriff Howard B. Fields stated that for the past ten years he has made efforts to have the War Department police the roads under the Federal Government within Arlington County which extend over an area of more than 22 miles.

Commissioners Provided For.

The bill provides that the director of public buildings and parks with the approval of the Secretary of War shall make all regulations and rules and proper care of those military roads designated by the Secretary of War.

It further provides that the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia is directed to appoint such commissioner or commissioners for service at convenient points adjacent to or near those military roads within the State of Virginia.

The board received from the Arlington County Zoning Commission at this meeting the approved draft of the zoning ordinance, and with it all maps as prepared by the county engineer's office, which become a part of the final report.

In presenting the ordinance Fred A. Gosnell, chairman of the commission, pointed out to the board that the commission has held 60 meetings in addition to 8 public hearings on the ordinance and has little difficulty in meeting a majority of the wants of the general public.

Whole Group Commended.

Chairman Gosnell commended the entire commission together with the county engineer's office for the hearty cooperation which has been given during the eight months of work carried on by the commission.

Chief Engineer Allen J. Saville, of Richmond, Va., who directed the zoning of the county, stated that Arlington County is the first of the 100 counties in the State to take up zoning, and he was confident that the ordinance as drafted will be found workable in Arlington County.

He declared that it is the greatest step toward the assurance of uniform development that the county could have taken.

The board in accepting the report announced that at its meeting next Wednesday it will announce the date for the holding of the public hearing in accordance with the provisions of the act as passed by the General Assembly of Virginia.

The Rev. A. E. Smith, former pastor of the Ballston Christian Church, has accepted a call to the Virginia Avenue Christian Church, at Lyon Park. He assumes his new duties Sunday, January 19, when he will conduct services in the morning at 11 o'clock and again in the evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

DREAMS have always interested Luella. So I told her of a strange one.

"It seemed that, although very poor, we owned a railroad——"

"What kind of a railroad was it, freight or passenger?"

"Both, but it was nondividend paying——"

"We should have raised the rates. The Interstate Commerce Commission——"

"This was a dream, Luella. As I said, we were very poor, starving."

"Starving, and yet we owned a railroad? It must have been a jerkwater line——"

"No, 'twas a rather large road, with some of the fastest trains, all running into great marble stations."

"Why didn't we sell a station or two, and get some money that way?"

"They were Union Stations, belonging to all the roads."

* * * *

"IF we were starving, why didn't we ride on the railroad, and eat in the diners?"

That seemed a sensible solution, and yet there were no diners on this railroad.

"How did we manage?" she asked.

"That's the funny part of this dream," I told her. "I'm coming to that. Hold your horses."

"Horses? You're talking about railroads."

"I know, and my dream. When we were desperate, when starvation actually stared us in the face," how do you think we finally got something to eat?"

"I dunno," she answered. "How did we?"

"This will surprise you. We traded a locomotive for a pan of rolls——"

"Who do you think was manager of the road?"

* * * *

"YOU must have been," she said, "to make such a crazy deal as that. Had I been manager, I'd have gone into one of the freight cars, opened a barrel of flour, and baked some bread in one of the locomotive ovens—instead of trading the engine for a pan of rolls. I never heard of such a thing——"

"But this was a dream——"

"Dream or no dream, it gives an insight into your business ability. I read in a book that what you dream is an index to your character. From now on you'd better let me handle the finances of this family. Come on, turn 'em over!"

"What d'ye mean, handle the finances?"

"I mean you need a guardian. A man who'd trade a locomotive for a pan of rolls has no business ability."

"But Luella——" I protested.

It did no good. The telling of a harmless dream revolutionized our entire financial fabric, gave us a new business manager, and——. Well, we shall see.

RADIO ENDOWMENTS FAVORED IN ADDRESS

Stations Free From Grasp of Business Are Needed, Broadcaster Says.

SCHOOL ALSO DESIRABLE

Winter Park, Fla., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—Endowed broadcasting stations, independent of advertising income, and at least one radio university, are necessary developments in the evolution of radio, H. V. Kaltenborn, associate editor and radio broadcaster of the Brooklyn Eagle, told the Institute of Statesmanship at Rollins College tonight.

To illustrate his point that business was coming more and more into control of radio, he quoted pronouncements by the Federal Radio Commission. Its last report, he said, asserts, "the commission must recognize that without advertising broadcasting would not exist." In denying wave length assignments to the American Federation of Labor and to the City of New York, he continued, the commission said "there is no reason why commercial stations, first in the field, should give way to stations not operated for profit."

"We need a larger recognition on the part of the Radio Commission," Mr. Kaltenborn said, "that 'public convelence and necessity' is not exclusively related to advertising and entertainment."

Capt. S. C. Hooper, director of naval communications, United States Navy, told of Government encouragements of radio development and declared that facts and public opinion properly radiocast would prevent war.

At the morning session Prof. Kimball Young, of the University of Wisconsin; Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the Nation; Dr. Ernest Guening, of the Portland Evening News, and Chester D. Pugsley, of Peekskill, N. Y., discussed censorship and agreed that social control could not be brought about by "passing law after law." They held the opinion that such control can be accomplished only gradually, through expression of public opinion and with enough license and freedom of thought to insure perfect liberty.

The institute will close at noon tomorrow.

Man Flourishes Gun Instead of Taxi Fare

Harry Carlisle, a taxi driver, of 1600 Sixteenth street northwest, received the shock of his life early yesterday morning when he tore a $2 fare slip off the meter of his car and handed it to a young man he had driven to Walter Reed Hospital.

The passenger reached in his pocket, but instead of removing a bill fold, produced a revolver. "I need the money worse than you," he told Carlisle. "Hand it over." By a coincidence, Carlisle had just $2 in his pocket.

Legion Hospital Aid Club Planned

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Jan. 10.—John E. McCarty, recently installed as commander of Fort Cumberland Post, No. 13, American Legion, has a plan to organize a legion hospitalization club of 300 members at a yearly charge of $12 to underwrite a sum of $4,000. Under the plan a contract would be made with one or more local hospitals to furnish treatment and care for legion hospital club members, their wives and children, with all expenses paid except medical fees. This would cover operations, accidents, illness, maternity and other cases. The club treasurer would pay the hospital bills at the flat rate offered.

Fort Cumberland Post is said to be the first organization to inaugurate such a novel experiment. The sum to be raised is based on the percentage calculation of actuaries and is said to be sufficient. It is understood the management of one of the hospitals here said it was willing to take a contract on that basis.

Mr. McCarty, who is a former resident of Boston, is research chemist for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Co. Recently Commander McCarty appointed directors for the annual fair and trade show of Fort Cumberland Post, to be held at the State Armory, April 25-May 3.

The State Bar Association bill, under which all members of the Virginia bar would be compelled to join the State Bar Association and become subject to its rules and regulations, was indorsed again this year. The local association was divided by a tie vote on this question, which was broken by the president voting in the affirmative. The Alexandria lawyers have also approved the bill, while Arlington County lawyers are understood to be opposed to it.

Man of Mystery Threatens Family

Armed Intruder Asserts Intention of Taking Over House, but Flees.

John Greene, his wife and four children were eating supper at 6:30 o'clock last night in their home, located a short distance from the Baltimore boulevard at Waterloo, Md., 2 miles north of Laurel, when an unidentified man leisurely walked in the front door, brandished a pistol and issued a single command.

"Get out of here, all of you, I'll take care of this place from now on," he ordered.

Greene leaped to his feet and warned the intruder that he was seeking a shotgun. A few moments later, while Greene was in another room, the man of mystery awung about and disappeared in the darkness of the old plantation. Corp. J. B. Deutsch and Private C. C. Sermon, of the Maryland State police, responding to a call, searched the property for the stranger without success.

PETERSBURG GROUP HEARS GARDEN TALK

SPEECH IS ILLUSTRATED

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Jan. 10.—The Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral at Washington, accompanied by Canon and Mrs. G. Freeland Peter, arrived here this afternoon and were met at the railway station by Mrs. George Cameron, jr., and other members of the Petersburg Garden Club.

Mrs. Freeman had expected to accompany the party but was kept at home because of illness.

Bishop Freeman came to Petersburg at the invitation of the Petersburg Garden Club, to talk on the bishop's cathedral garden. The address was made in the auditorium of St. Paul's Episcopal Church parish house, which was packed with an audience composed principally of women.

The bishop was introduced by the Rev. J. M. B. Gill, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

The bishop gave an interesting account of the beauty of Washington and what was being accomplished there. His address was illustrated with stereopticon slides. Bishop Freeman told his audience that the cathedral garden was not his garden but that it was the garden of the whole nation, for there were plants there from all over the continent. In conclusion the bishop said that the time had come when value must be put on Christianity. He said that he would soon start on a tour from Norfolk in the interest of the national cathedral.

He is taking a leading part in the Nation-wide movement to hasten the completion of the structure.

The address was heard not only by the local garden club but by large delegations from the Richmond, Hopewell and Brunswick County Club. Tonight Bishop Freeman and party were given a dinner by Mrs. George Cameron, jr., of this city.

Several other lots have also been acquired on which salt brine wells will be dug to obtain the brine needed for the products manufactured. At present this company is importing rock salt to make up its requirements.

'Young Democrat' Assails Simmons

Carolina Chairman Would Bar Anti-Smith Senator From Party Dinner.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—John H. Kerr, jr., of Rocky Mount, chairman of the Second Congressional District organization of Young Democrats, has objected to an invitation given Senator F. M. Simmons by the State organization to attend a Jackson Day dinner to be held here March 15.

Contending that because Senator Simmons opposed Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic presidential nominee last fall, he was not a Democrat, Mr. Kerr said the invitation should not have been extended to him.

Both Senator Simmons and Josiah William Bailey, Raleigh attorney, who has announced his intention of attempting to unseat the senator in the Democratic primary next June, were invited to attend the dinner.

Jouett Shouse, secretary of the Democratic national executive committee, and Harry Flood Byrd, retiring Governor of Virginia, have accepted invitations to the dinner.

Mr. Kerr, the son of Representative John H. Kerr, of the Second District, represented Edgecombe County in the last North Carolina General Assembly.

ROCKINGHAM SHOWS CONSTRUCTION GAIN

Building Mark Approaches $1,800,000 During 1930, Figures Show.

RESIDENCES LEAD LIST

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Jan. 10.—Construction work during the past year in Harrisonburg and Rockingham County approached the $1,800,000 mark, in spite of the fact that such activity showed a decline in other sections of the country. Of this total, $650,000 was expended in the city.

The greatest sum was expended in construction of nearly 100 residences in the city and county, at an estimated cost of $455,000. Forty-five of these dwellings were built in the Harrisonburg area, one realty firm constructing fourteen of this number.

Heading the construction projects in the county were the completion of two buildings at Bridgewater College, costing $150,000; the development of Blue Grottoes, the newest Shenandoah Valley caverns resort, $150,000; the construction of an addition to the Broadway cold storage plant at Broadway, $125,000; the building of 70 miles of electric light lines by the Shenandoah River Power Co. at a cost of $100,000, and the expenditure of $150,000 by the State Highway Commission in new road construction.

The City of Harrisonburg itself took the lead in construction work here, expending $102,059 in the building of an incinerator, in an addition to the steam electric plant, and in the construction of sidewalks and streets. A total of $21,000 was spent in street building around the new high school. The Consumers Utilities Co. ran the city a close race in the amount of money expended last year, investing $100,000 in the installation of its gas system, which began operation on December 1 last.

Death of Dog Told In Crowded Court

Cruelty-to-Animals Count Dropped as Man Bares Cause of Slaying.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—The story of the death of King Tut, a white bulldog, was told to a capacity audience in justice court in the Buckhead community today and when it was ended a charge of cruelty to animals against J. H. Williams was dismissed.

Williams admitted having struck the dog with a stone, to stop a dog fight in the front yard of his home. He said that he had struck the animal later with an ax to put him out of his misery and then, thinking the dog dead, allowed a friend to take the carcass to a wooded section near Peachtree Creek.

The dog was found in a sack, barely alive, several days after Williams said he killed him on December 29. The Atlanta Humane Society investigated and said the evidence tended to show the animal had been tortured. Rewards of $552 came from Atlanta citizens for the arrest of the person believed to have tortured the dog. Now it appears that no one will get the reward, which, court officials said, probably would be returned to those who donated it.

Culpeper Fire Head Given Ninth Term

Annual Report of Company Shows 40 Answers to Alarms.

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Jan. 10.—J. William Swan, 67-year-old chief of the Culpeper Volunteer Fire Company since its organization in 1922, was last night elected for his ninth term. Other officers elected were L. C. Major, first assistant chief; Letcher Longerbeam, second assistant chief; E. Murphy Hoffman, hose captain; Walter L. Roy, secretary, and T. I. Martin, treasurer.

The annual report of the company showed that they had answered 40 alarms in 1929, with an average of 24 firemen attending each blaze. Seventeen of the fires were outside of town. The total fire loss in town for the year was reported to be a little less than $5,000.

An outstanding accomplishment of the company in 1929 was the purchase of a $6,500 modern fire engine, on which the company paid the last note today.

Judge Moves to Clear Anne Arundel Docket

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 10. — Judge Robert Moss, of Anne Arundel County Circuit Court, will recall the October term grand gury to meet next week. The petit jurors also will be reassembled Monday. The jurors were temporarily discharged nearly a month ago, but there are a number of prisoners either in jail or released on bond, who are involved in cases calling for grand jury action, and Judge Moss said he was moved to dispose of the cases rather than carry them over until the next regular jury term in April.

Woman Badly Burned By Christmas Tree Fire

Special to The Washington Post.

Berryville, Va., Jan. 10.—Miss Mamie Spates, daughter of T. P. Spates, of Briggs, near the Old Chapel, was badly burned about the face and shoulders Sunday morning when a Christmas tree which had caught fire fell over on her. Her brother, Jetson Spates, assistant cashier of the Bank of Clarke County, Berryville, who came to her rescue, was also burned, but not seriously.

When the fire was first discovered the flames were near the ceiling, it being supposed that gas escaping from the coal stove in some way became ignited and set the tree on fire. All of the damage was confined to the one room, as the fire was extinguished before reaching other parts of the house by a bucket brigade.

Farmers Support Joint Warehousing

West Virginia Association Has Elaborate Plans for Expansion.

Special to The Washington Post.

Weston, W. Va., Jan. 10.—The West Virginia Farm Bureau Cooperative Association is going in heavily for cooperative warehouses. Fourteen have been built or will soon be built, the latest being a storage house and distributing center to be erected at once on the M. B. Sprigg lot on Depot avenue here.

Work will be started at once on the structure, which will be of brick and tile, and 50 by 100 feet in dimension.

Doddridge County farmers, at a meeting just held at West Union, arranged to form a $10,000 stock company to build a cooperative warehouse in that city, the county seat, and work will start on it in the near future.

VIRGINIA TOBACCO MARKET SEES BOOM

Abingdon Burley Sales Set All-Time Record; Prices Higher Along Line.

SEASON GAINS OVER 1928

Richmond, Va., Jan. 10 (A.P.).—December, 1929, was an exceptional month for producers' sales of leaf tobacco in Virginia, according to the report of Henry M. Taylor, Virginia Department of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture, released today.

All types of tobacco sold averaged a substantially high price. Contrary to usual returns, fire-cured tobacco brought a higher price than flue-cured weed. The burley market at Abingdon with the sale of 2,374,154 pounds established the largest December sales on record.

Producers' sales of leaf tobacco in the State during the month amounted to 24,105,346 pounds, valued at $4,400,206, according to warehouse reports compiled by Mr. Taylor. The average price for all types sold in the month was $18.25 per 100 pounds, compared with the December, 1928, average of $16.56 per 100 pounds.

Season Sales Show Gain.

Total sales for the season to January 1 amounted to 81,826,767 pounds, compared with 73,827,948 pounds to the same date last year, and 91,451,898 two years ago. Approximately 62 per cent of the estimated total sales had been sold by January 1, while in the two preceding years 63 per cent of the crop had been sold by this date.

The flue-cured sales amounted to 15,356,966 pounds, which was considerably less than the November sales and about the same as in December, 1928. ## $101,662,332 ASKED IN VIRGINIA BUDGET

MILLION DEFICIT ERASED

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 10.—Gov. Byrd today transmitted his budget prepared to cover the 28 months following March 1 and appropriating $101,662,332 for that period to the Virginia General Assembly, and that body, not yet fully organized, adjourned for its first week-end recess.

A slight furore was caused following introduction of the budget when Senator R. J. Fuller and Delegate E. A. Hicks began circulation of a petition urging Governor-elect Pollard to reconsider his appointment of T. McCall Frazier, as member of the vehicle commission and to reappoint James M. Hayes, jr., who has a strong political backing.

The budget allows for a tax reduction on incomes payable in 1931 of about $300,000 annually and provides heavily for capital outlays, especially in State-owned schools.

Poorer Counties Aided.

An equalization fund to help the poorer counties with education is provided in a $900,000 annual increase in the educational budget, which is more than $14,000,000 for the budget period.

The budget showed a surplus in hand as of March 1, 1930, of more than $4,000,000, as against a deficit of more than $1,000,000 four years ago. The surplus is to be expended for buildings at State schools and improvements at penal institutions and hospitals.

Senator John A. Lesner, of Norfolk, introduced the uniform motor vehicle operators and chauffeurs license bill, which would require State-wide licenses. In addition to the license bill Senator Lesner, in conjunction with Senator Frank L. Ball, of Arlington, introduced the safety-responsibility bill, designed by the American Automobile Association as a solution for the compulsory auto liability insurance question.

Driver Judgment Proviso.

It provides that no driver should be granted a license while a judgment of more than $100 against him is unsatisfied, not before he could give proof of financial responability for future accidents in the amount of $10,000 for personal injury and $1,000 for property damage.

The State-wide license bill was defeated in the Senate at the last session chiefly through the influence of Gov. Byrd, who opposed it on the ground that he had pledged himself against it in his campaign.

Other work includes:

Introduction in the House by Delegate Daniel Coleman, of Norfolk, of three bills designed to reduce the income tax in the lower brackets.

Barber Bill Reintroduced.

Introduction of the barber bill killed last session, which would create a State Board of Examiners for barbers to examine and license journeymen barbers and enforce certain health regulations.

Introduction by Senator Shumate, of Pearisburg, of a bill to amend absentee voters law to extend the privilege to special elections.

Introduction by Senator Buchanan, of Smyth, of a bill to authorize cities, counties and towns to exempt manufacturing establishments and work of internal improvements from taxation.

New Gas Tax Fund Divided.

The automobile license bills and the introduction of the new plan under which county gas tax funds will be apportioned on a new basis—one-third of the tax on the present basis and the other two-thirds on the basis of area, population and tax levies, both local and State—presage many lively days ahead for good road advocates and opponents of which there are many of varying thought.

Senator Lesner's bill would prohibit cities and other political subdivisions from licensing drivers and give the State sole authority, and would exempt only Army, Navy and Marine Corps officials' drivers, nonresident drivers over 16 for a period of 90 days and would allow no minor under 16 years of age to drive and no person under 18 to operate a school bus unless recommended by a judge of the circuit or corporation court.

Existing city licenses would be convertible without question. It also is provided that all courts of competent jurisdiction may recommend suspension of any license, forwarding a record and recommendation to the central office.

Revocation Is Mandatory.

Revocation of licenses would be mandatory in case of conviction of manslaughter in connection with the automobile killing, of driving while under the influence of liquor, and of felony in which automobile is used, or on convictions or
